Osmond L. Field Was Fined $50
in Liquor Case Today

Osmond L. Field, the Merrimack street druggist, was arraigned in police court this morning on complaint charging him with illegal keeping, and sale of intoxicating liquors. Through his counsel, John J. Pickman, the defendant entered a plea of guilty, and was fined $50 for illegal sale, the case of illegal keeping being placed on file.

Early last Sunday morning inspectors Atkinson and Dwyer called at Mr. Field's drug store and seized a quantity of liquor, after Mr. Field had sold liquor to the officers, who were in citizens' clothes.

Man Was Insane

Anthony Economides, who entered a complaint of assault and battery against Anastasia Droukas, but who failed to put in an appearance yesterday morning when the case was called, was arrested yesterday afternoon, on a capias, by Constable Demaris in a coffee house in Market street. When the officer put in an affidavit Economides attempted to hide himself, but was unsuccessful, and was taken to the police station.

In court this morning Economides stated that he was told that he would not have to go to court until next Tuesday morning, that being his reason for not appearing yesterday. It is alleged that Economides is insane. He was confined at the asylum in Danvers for several months and later he was sent to Greece, where it is alleged he assaulted his mother and afterwards came to this country and last Saturday attempted to stab his sister, Beatrice, who happened to be near his sister's house at the time, rushed into the house and found that Economides was attempting to stab his sister with a knife. Beatrice gave Economides a couple of blows and then threw him into the street.

Judge Hadley decided to continue the case till tomorrow and in the meantime Dr. Remier, the alienist, will examine Economides as to his sanity.

Assaulted Girls

Charles Schadt and Harry Georgopoulos were arraigned in court this morning on complaints charging them with assault and battery on two girls, aged thirteen and fourteen years. Dennis J. Murphy appeared for Georgopoulos and John J. Harvey for Schadt. By agreement of counsel and the court the cases were continued till November 19th, the defendants being held under $500 each.

Well Known Physician
Passed Away

The many friends of Dr. Patrick E. Sullivan, one of Lowell's best known young physicians, will be deeply pained to learn of his death which occurred yesterday afternoon at the residence of his cousin, Miss Mamie Murphy, 34 Butterfield street, after an illness of several months' duration, and which had previously caused him to resign his position as ambulance surgeon and retire from active life. Through his position as ambulance surgeon, having succeeded the late Dr. Charles H. Ricker, he was well liked by all who knew him. Of scholarly attainments and possessed of a ready wit and a fund of humor, he was a favorite among his companions of the medical profession by whom his loss will be sincerely mourned.

Dr. Sullivan was well prepared in his profession. He was a graduate of Holy Cross college and a graduate of the Harvard Medical school. He also spent several months at Bellevue hospital, New York, immediately following the attainment of his medical degree.

In spite of his comparatively youthful age of 35 years, Dr. Sullivan had forged to the front in his profession, and had held a high place in the councils of his professional brothers. Through his work and his activity in fraternal fields he was unusually well known. He was for four years physician for the local aerle of Eagles, and had been physician for the Elks in this city, to which order he also belonged. Dr. Sullivan was also a member of Industry council, 1722, Royal Arcanum, and of the Jefferson Medical association.

He leaves besides the cousin at whose home he died, two other cousins in this city, Miss Madeline Leary and Daniel Leary, and cousins in Boston, Malden, Bangor, Me., and St. John, N. B.

RECRUITS SCHOOL TEACHERS

To be Sent to the Newport Naval Training Station Will Receive Pay if Mayor Farnham Signs Order

NEWPORT, R. I., Nov. 11.—The officials of the Newport Training station are making arrangements for the accommodation of 2500 apprentices during the coming winter following a statement by Acting Secretary of the Navy Truman Newberry that the number of recruits to be sent here would reach that number. Should 2500 boys report here for instruction the number in attendance at present would be exceeded by more than 1000 and it is believed that it will be the greatest number to receive training here at one time.

The establishment of a new station in Chicago, expected in the early spring which will take about 500 apprentices from this station is one of the reasons for the unusually large number and it is also expected that the San Francisco station will be augmented by an additional 500 recruits at the expense of the Newport station. This would deplete the 2500 to 1500 and the latter number is believed to be too small to fill the places which will be vacant when the world-circling fleet finishes its tour. However there will be ample time to put almost as many more through the early courses of instruction before their entrance into active service is necessary.

Included in the $115,000 loan order adopted by the common council last night in concurrence with the board of aldermen, is $30,000 for the school department, and if Mayor Farnham signs the order the school teachers will receive their pay this week.

Judging from the telephone calls the teachers are fearful that they will have to go another week without their legal and allowed stipend. It looks like a case of "we need the money," and it is up to Mayor Farnham.

In order to relieve the mental pressure with the school teachers, The Sun reporter asked the mayor if he had signed the order.

"It has not come to me yet," he said. "Will you sign it?" asked the reporter, who incidentally threw in a few heart beats about the poor school teachers.

"Oh I think so. It's something that is absolutely necessary," said His Honor, and just for that the school teachers lived happy ever after.

SEVERED HAND

Produced in Court in Everson Case

The case of Everson vs. General Accident Fire and Insurance Company of Perth, Scotland, which has been on trial at the superior court for the past few days is undoubtedly one of the most stubbornly contested that has been heard here in a long time. It has abounded in unusual features. Shortly after its start the determination of the defense to make the plaintiff show that the agent who insured him was the authorized U. S. agent of the company, caused a postponement of the case for several days and necessitated writing to Philadelphia and calling to Scotland. Yesterday Mr. Bassily, counsel for the defense, introduced an unusual feature by acting as a draughtsman and drawing a plan of a building for the jury, from detailed descriptions given by the plaintiff on the witness stand. Finally the severed right hand of the plaintiff, for the loss of which he is suing, was brought into court and shown to the jury and discussed by experts in pathology, as the defense claims that the loss of the member did result from any of the causes that would entitle the plaintiff to recover under the terms of his policy.

The hand was severed about three inches above the wrist, and the question to be determined is whether or not the injury by burning, which was the cause of the amputation, could have been caused in the way the plaintiff claims.

Dr. Wm. T. Councilman, professor of pathology at Harvard, was called by the plaintiff's counsel, and testified to the condition of the hand, and his conclusions. The fingers were curled, claw fashion, and Dr. Councilman concluded that this position was caused by heat; that there was some flame, but not much. The condition of the hand could not have been produced by acids, and the effect could not have been produced after the hand was amputated. He thought there was some flame, but the condition in which he found the tissue of the hand was produced largely by the action of heat, without flame. The plaintiff rested, and the defense, without making any opening, put on Dr. W. A. Christie, visiting surgeon of the St. John N. B. hospital. Dr. Christie amputated Mr. Everson's hand on the 20th of November, 1907. He saw the patient on the 18th, and came to the conclusion that the hand was burned. He testified that there was a well defined line, at the wrist, and above this line the tissue was not destroyed, but was normal. The fingers

SPORTING GOSSIP

Racing May Be Revived in Missouri and Illinois

Horsemen in the west have come to the conclusion since election that racing will be revived in both Illinois and Missouri. They are already predicting that the Chicago, St. Louis and Kansas City tracks will be reopened next year. They say that the election of Hadley as governor of Missouri is the best thing that could happen to the racing interests. It is declared by these turfmen that with Governor-elect Hadley made no promises before election, the fact that a majority of the racing men worked and voted for him is a good reason to believe that his intentions were well understood. For that reason it is said that an attempt will be made to revive the sport at St. Louis and Kansas City. The Celtic practically controlled the tracks in St. Louis when former Governor Folk closed up the game, while Edward Corrigan was the chief owner of the Kansas City plant. Whether Celtic and Corrigan will take part in the projected plan to race again, however, nobody seems in a position to say just now.

In Chicago it is said that Gov. Denen has never been opposed to racing, but that the man who stood in the way was State Attorney Healey. In the recent election Healey was removed and it is declared that his successor will take a more liberal view of racing and betting, in which event the gates of Harlan, Hawthorne and Worth in the Windy City will be opened once more after a number of years of idleness. Corrigan and John Condon practically controlled the turf situation in Chicago when the tracks were put out of business. They are ready to resume operations, and it is said that though they were formerly bitter enemies they are now harmonious. If it turns out that racing can be conducted at Chicago, St. Louis and Kansas City turfmen who are up in the air at present as regards the future will have another chance to go after stakes and purses. But it is hardly probable that the leading turfmen of the east would invade the west, for the reason that there has never been a pronounced feeling of friendliness between the eastern turf solons on the one hand and the Celtic and Corrigan on the other.

The arrival of the American racehorses owned by Messrs. Keene, Belmont and Whitney in England has caused an unusually early interest to be manifested in next year's English Derby. According to the records so far there are twenty-two American bred colts who are eligible for the derby. Of this number August Belmont has four, Laconian, by Octagon-Lack-a-Daisy; Rhombus, by Octagon-Lady Rayon; Solicitor IV, by Hastings-Selina D. and Bay Tree, by Colling-Black Donar. These youngsters are also eligible for the $70,000 Grand Prix de Paris, the greatest French race for three-year-olds. James R. Keene's Derby eligibles are Urtimus, Esperanto, Seletman and Wamba. John E. Madden's eligibles are Sir Martin, the champion two-year-old of the last season here, and Fayette, C. H. Mackay's eligible is a colt said to have been named California, who is by Madster-Won by Waiting and who has already spent nearly a year on the other side. For the English Oaks Mr. Belmont's eligibles are Sumach I, by Hastings-Sovereign, a full sister to Half Sovereign, and a bay filly by Hastings-Tarvela. The Keene eligibles are Maskette, Wedding Bells, Suffragette and Mystify. Madden can start Lady Bedford or Lady Hubbard, who raced here this year. English turf experts say that there will be plenty of chances for Colin, Ballot, Fair Play and Pilsellian to show what they can do in handicaps against the best horses in Great Britain.

Manager Stallings took formal

grapples, who came over here six weeks ago expressly for the purpose of meeting him.

AUTOMOBILE NOTES

Reports received at the headquarters of the American Automobile association indicate that the officers of many of the local automobile clubs which have placed their organizations on record as strongly opposed to speeding and reckless driving, are not content with this action alone, but intend to place the responsibility where it rightfully belongs, upon the motorists of other states, who in many cases do not evidence any desire or inclination to observe the local speed laws. Many of the automobile clubs affiliated with the American Automobile association have during the past several months endeavored to break up the reckless driving and speeding through the principal thoroughfares and the Automobile club of Springfield (Mass.) has taken drastic action which will without doubt have a far reaching effect.

At a recent meeting of the board of directors of the Automobile club of Springfield, one of the largest and most influential clubs in New England, it was decided to have suitable cards printed which will be displayed in all of the hotels and garages in Springfield and vicinity and leading through the popular routes into the adjoining states. These cards will call upon the motorists to use the roads in a safe and sane manner and if they fail to comply with the club's request, the directors have decided that there is but one alternative, that the establishment of official club speed traps. The Springfield club is determined that the speed laws in the vicinity shall be properly observed, the local motorists feeling morally responsible for the acts of the motorists from other states and they will not hesitate to establish traps if it is deemed necessary.

The directors of the Automobile club of Springfield have taken this step upon their own initiative without waiting for specific complaints to be made and in this connection have taken more radical action than the other clubs in New England which have been considering the best means of discouraging the continuous speeding over the splendid highways of that section.

It is only a few weeks ago that Secretary Elliott of the American Automobile association sent a warning against reckless driving to the officers of the 200 automobile clubs scattered throughout the United States, to the effect that drastic anti-automobile legislation would surely be enacted in many of the eastern states, particularly Connecticut if a stop was not put to the reckless driving over the roads of New England. There has already been some agitation regarding the Connecticut Automobile statute, regarded as one of the most motor vehicle laws in the country, being likely to be repealed, unless the automobilists touring through the state, cease speeding and thereby tend to diminish the number of accidents which have frequently occurred to the other users of the highways.

If there is anything which automobilists dislike, it is a speed trap and if the plan of the Automobile club of Springfield is carried out there is no doubt but that it will have the desired effect, at least in Springfield and vicinity of abating the fast and reckless driving of automobilists.

TARIFF REFORM

Congressman Payne at Work of Revision

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—Sessions of the ways and means committee of the house of representatives to hear arguments on the various schedules of the new tariff law began yesterday and will continue to Dec. 4. Chairman Sereno Payne of New York believes the committee will be able to perfect a bill early in the December session of congress. It is the desire of the committee, Mr. Payne says, to assure the business interests of the country that there will be no unnecessary delay in framing a new tariff law.

CAMPAIGN FUND

To be Made Public in Few Days

HOT SPRINGS, Va., Nov. 11.—President-elect Wm. H. Taft and National Chairman Frank H. Hitchcock had a long and pleasant chat yesterday over the many phases of the last campaign. It was the first opportunity for such an extended and cordial exchange of views, and at its conclusion both Mr. Taft and Mr. Hitchcock expressed their pleasure in the interview.

"We checked each other under the chin and enjoyed many things in the campaign that were decidedly serious before," said Judge Taft last night. He added that Mr. Hitchcock had told him many interesting things that he had not known respecting the pre-election work, and Chairman Hitchcock said that he had the pleasure of informing Judge Taft that the campaign had been conducted, so far as he was concerned, without the giving of a single promise or pledge which would bind Mr. Taft as president, either in exchange for personal service in the campaign, or for contributions to the republican cause.

Mr. Taft was told about the campaign fund, which Mr. Hitchcock is to make public in detail in a few days. The national chairman said that this fund was smaller in its aggregate than any similar fund since the record of such funds had been kept, and that it was collected from every state in the Union and represented a wider distribution of support than ever before. "The collections were made," Mr. Hitchcock explained, "through the state organizations. Until these organizations were perfected and until they understood their responsibility in the cause, the income was necessarily small and unassured. But when they were in working order the necessary sinews of war began to come."

Beyond these general statements Mr. Hitchcock declined to go until the authorized publication is made. He added, however, in answer to a question, that New York and the east, as always, had been the larger part of the fund. "The makeup of the cabinet was not discussed," was the statement of both participants in the conference.

"As to the details of the inauguration ceremonies," said Mr. Taft, "I should be glad to put them on the shoulders of the national chairman to the greatest extent possible."

"I think Chairman Hitchcock has proved himself a decided wonder as a guesser," laughingly remarked Judge Taft. "He said I would get 325 electoral votes. Well, 321 comes near enough to that figure to make his reputation exceedingly high."

CHINESE MINISTER STEAMER LOST

Five Persons Either Killed or Drowned

Was In Speeding Auto That Policeman Held Up

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—Wu Ting Fang, Chinese minister to the United States, witnessed an example of the zeal of New York city bicycle police in checking speeding automobilists last night, when a motor car in which he and a member of his staff were riding was pursued for more than thirty blocks down Broadway and overtaken when it stopped at the Manhattan hotel, where the minister was to be a guest at a banquet. The blue coat was greatly astonished to see two distinguished celebrities step from the cab of the motor car, but was more so a moment later, when Secret Service Agent Baldwin made known the identity of the Chinese minister to him.

Visions of international complications flashed before the bicycle policeman, whose name was Lemmon, but he already had declared the chauffeur arrested for violating the speed laws, and he said there was no other course left open to him but to take the alleged offender to the night court.

Wu Ting Fang and Mr. Ho, his companion in the automobile ride, walked quickly into the hotel, when they saw that the secret service man had taken charge of the case. Agent Baldwin said that the chauffeur was aware that he had been ordered to do so, although at times faster time was made. Broadway was pretty well congested with automobiles and carriages carrying theatre parties at the time, and the machine exceeding the speed limit and had been ordered to do so. According to the policeman, twenty-five miles was the average speed, although at times faster time was made. # LAWYER F. W. QUA IN CITY COUNCIL

Talked to the Star Army on No-License Last Night Alderman Bailey Explained His Position on Health Matter

Francis W. Qua, the well known local lawyer, gave an address on "No License" before the senior branch of the Star Army of the First Presbyterian church last night. Mr. Qua, during the course of his remarks, said:

"A few weeks hence, the legal voters of this city will be called upon to face the greatest responsibility, to exercise the highest privilege, to perform the most solemn duty that falls to the lot of free men."

"It seems to me a momentous responsibility that rests upon every individual. In fact it is no less—so far as the individual is concerned—than it would be if each man who goes to the polls and votes were himself the sole voter, and upon him rested the entire responsibility of the city. I wish that I could impress upon the voters of Lowell the importance of their acts. It should be regarded almost as a religious rite."

"There are two different kinds of duty that we voters shall perform at the city election. One of those duties is to say what officers shall administer the government of the city for the next year. That is not a question of policy at all. It is a question simply of the men who are to represent us."

"Another duty, much higher than the first, is the duty of determining the policy of this city, and its government for the next year, upon one of the most vital questions, the question of intoxicating liquors. In other words, the voter is actually a legislator, when it comes to this question. He makes the law."

"It is the general policy of the commonwealth, and has been for many years, to prohibit the sale of intoxicating liquors. If every voter in the city neglected to answer the question on the ballot, the general law would prevail and there would be no licenses issued in Lowell for the coming year. The burden of proof, then, is upon those persons who say that we ought to vote yes. If we are in doubt, and do nothing prohibition will prevail. Those who ask us to vote for license should give us some good and sufficient reason for so doing."

"It is usual for people talking on this subject to assume that the burden of proof is upon those who are asking for no-license. It is just the other way."

Mr. Qua then presented Miss Willard's temperance arguments, with comments on each; the scientific argument, the social argument, the economic and the political argument.

In reference to the last named, he said: "What about the prosecution of certain hotels in Lowell for illegal sales? Are those questions decided?"

FRANCIS W. QUA

Did the juries do their duty in those cases? The law says that the keeper of a hotel may sell liquor on Sunday to bona fide guests, who resort to his house for food or lodging."

"In the first place, we have a great many more hotels than the city would

Said Mayor Has Broken His Promises — Dr. Jones' Name Sent Down — The Business Transacted

Mayor Farnham changed his mind about sending to the board of aldermen the name of Dr. W. M. Jones for confirmation to the board of health. Yesterday he had decided not to send the doctor's name to the aldermen last night but at the last moment he decided to push it along. The appointment was not acted upon, however, an objection to the suspension of rule 13 being submitted by Alderman O'Hearn.

Alderman Bailey had the floor at last night's meeting and he walloped Mayor Farnham in great shape. He said the mayor was not a man of his word and that his (Bailey's) position in the board of health matter was the mayor's fault because the chief executive did not live up to his agreements.

Alderman Bailey charged that Mayor Farnham, soon after his election, promised to appoint Dr. Frank O'Sullivan to the board of health. Alderman Bailey's statement to the board last night was as follows:

"With your permission I would like to say a few words on a question of personal privilege. It is with reference to the position I have taken regarding a member for the board of health and support if it were not for the rum traffic, and it were not for Sunday sales, many of them would go out of business."

"Could any 12 men sit and listen to that evidence, and honestly think that that was a compliance with the law?" Preceding the address, the army had a business session, the president, John Caddell, presiding. During the evening Carl Wilkins played piano solos, and Messrs. Muir and Campbell sang a duet.

for which I consider I have been unfairly criticized by one of our local newspapers."

"Soon after the election of Mayor Farnham, his honor offered to relatives of Dr. Frank O'Sullivan the appointment. For him it was a case of the office seeking the man, and not the man seeking the office. I was asked at the time if I would vote for him, and I promised to do so. Up to the present time the mayor, for some reason of his own, has failed to keep his word, although through the summer, yes, and as late as this fall he has repeated it."

"This is my explanation for not making this statement before, as I was expecting at every meeting that Dr. Frank O'Sullivan's name would be sent up."

"I agree with his honor that the position should be filled by a physician, and I consider Dr. O'Sullivan fully qualified to do it. He comes of a good family, and I say right here, if we had more tradesmen of the calibre of his father we should have a greater Lowell."

"With reference to insinuations that I had made a deal with Mr. Beane, I repeat my former statement that he was an entire stranger to me this spring. Since then I have met him and found him a gentleman, and today I am pleased to consider him among my personal friends."

"While I am conscious of mistakes, they are mistakes which reflect on my judgment and not upon my honor. 'No man can charge me at any time or place with having a dishonorable dollar in my possession.'"

When Alderman Bailey had finished Chairman Read said if there were no objections rule 13 would be suspended to allow action on the appointment of Dr. Jones.

"There is objection," said Alderman O'Hearn, and the appointment was relegated to the table for three days.

The following jurors were drawn by Alderman Brecken:

Alfred T. Howe, 4 Eighth avenue, crayon manufacturer.

Samuel E. Snow, 89 School street, mason.

Louis Alexander, 261 Gibson street, tailor.

John F. McLaughlin, 151 West Sixth street, pipefitter.

Peter P. Conaton, 43 Marlboro street, plumber.

The returns of the state elections were canvassed and signed.

Edward McGovern was confirmed as constable.

$2500 For Police

The board adopted the recommendation of the appropriations committee that $2500 be appropriated for police salaries and sundries.

The sum of $6200 was voted for a hose wagon and truck for the new Centralville fire station and a hose wagon for the High street engine house.

An order transferring $10,000 from streets to the general treasury fund, then to sewers was adopted. Adjourned.

Common Council

The common council in regular session last night voted to appropriate the sum of $115,000 to tide over the school, health and charity departments for the remainder of the year. This vote was in concurrence with the board of aldermen.

The council balanced one for city physician, and there was no choice. The mayor's appointment of George McLaughlin as a surveyor of lumber was confirmed.

The joint order to appropriate $1000 for a baseball and playground at Fort Hill park was adopted.

CAMPAIGN IS SIZZLING

With Eight Mayoralty Candidates on the Jump

An Interesting "Knocking Bee" Held in Ward Three Last Evening — Mr. Casey Declares Against Moffatt — Cummings Greeted by Old Friends in Ward Two

Not in many years has Lowell witnessed such a lively and interesting mayoralty campaign as is being put up by the different candidates during these last days before the caucuses.

Each candidate is giving more personal attention to his own fight than has ever been given before, for all the talking is being done by the candidates themselves and the usual "leading republicans" and "leading democrats" have not been called upon as yet to get on the stump and declare themselves for one candidate or another.

The candidacy of George H. Brown, the most picturesque figure in the campaign, is worrying the republican leaders mightily for while at first they regarded him as a joke and perfectly harmless, they have discovered that if he is a joke the republican machine is the butt of it. Mr. Brown has proven to be a good campaigner and he has been sending out shot into the other candidates. Brown has proven to have a lot of good material up his sleeves that he was never suspected of having.

Mr. Derby, who has been called away by the illness of his wife, was missed last night. Had he been at the Wiggin rally the symposium would have been complete.

On the democratic side, Messrs. Cummings and Casey are making speeches nightly, while Col. Carmichael and ex-Alderman Daly are proceeding along the lines of personal solicitation. All four candidates now have well located headquarters, and the active portions of each may be found at the headquarters from early morning until late at night. The four democratic candidates thus far are entitled to congratulations for the fair manner in which they have been conducting their campaign. As yet not one unkind word has been said by one of the four against any of the others, in striking contrast to the bitterness on the republican side. Such a condition of affairs before the caucus augurs well for democratic success at the polls.

Mr. Cummings' Rally

In the ward where he had lived for many years, ward two, Lawrence Cummings received welcome last evening that gladdened his heart. The rally was held in the polling booth at the corner of Fletcher and Willie streets, and was largely attended. The meeting was presided over by Mr. Stephen Monahan, who after brief remarks introduced Mr. Cummings, who spoke in part as follows: "It gives me particular pleasure to address this meeting to-night because it was in this very section then known as old ward one, that I received my first training in life. As a result of this I have a personal acquaintance with many of the older voters of the ward, and they, I presume, know my qualifications."

"For the benefit of the young men I wish to make it clear that my purpose in attempting to reach the high office of mayor is because of the high honor which it confers on anyone who is fortunate enough to be selected by the people and also for the purpose of serving the will of the people in an honest and fearless manner."

"I feel certain that if nominated I can be elected. If successful next Tuesday night I feel assured of sufficient help to land in the mayor's chair and if I do I give you my word that I will be mayor all of the time and will not stand for the dictates of any individual or corporation possessed of selfish motives."

"I know the game of politics pretty well and I am well acquainted with the work of many of the departments of the city, so that no underhanded maneuvering would be tolerated by me. Should I be unsuccessful at the caucuses next Tuesday night I will very willingly lend my assistance to the successful candidate, and in return for this offer I will look for assistance from the other candidates if I poll the largest number of votes."

"I am not attempting to land the nomination by promising every other man I meet a position. If nominated and elected I will go to the mayor's chair without the slightest pledge or promise to anyone, although I appreciate very fully the work of my friends for my nomination."

Mr. Cummings spoke to a large number of voters at his headquarters later in the evening.

Casey in Belvidere

Hon. James E. Casey addressed two large audiences last evening, speaking first in the High street engine house and later at Gold Follies hall, in Centralville. At both places Mr. Casey spoke on Sept. Moffatt and the need of a public hall. In the course of his remarks Mr. Casey said he would outline his policy if elected.

He then stated that he would prefer charges against the superintendent of police and if these were sustained he should cause his removal. He charged the superintendent with being too active in politics and that the police department is in a positively demoralized condition, without proper discipline and subject to rank favoritism. There shall be no arbitrary power in the removal of the superintendent of police.

I am willing to waive the question whether he cannot be removed without charges preferred and after a hearing, I will prefer charges and demand a public hearing.

"This is the only night I shall make reference to this matter in this campaign. I speak of it now, because it is a fixed purpose in my mind, and I therefore should be plain and frank with the public in discussing it."

Carmichael and Daly

Col. Carmichael and ex-Alderman Daly held no rallies last evening but were at their headquarters during the evening, each working hard and conferring with voters from the various wards.

Mr. Derby's Friends

A meeting of the friends of Mr. Derby was held at the headquarters 48 Middle street, last evening with a large attendance and encouraging reports were made. Mr. Derby is still at Woodstock, N. H.

Delaney for Alderman

Last night while candidates for mayoralty honors were telling the voters of Lowell how the city's affairs ought to be conducted and what they would do if landed in the mayor's chair, John J. Delaney, candidate for nomination for alderman on the democratic ticket, was actively engaged at a meeting in his interests in the Mansur block.

The meeting was attended by representatives from the different wards, and everybody seemed very enthusiastic. Mr. Delaney made a brief speech in which he explained his position. He thanked the representatives from the different wards for the enthusiasm they manifested and declared that if nominated and elected he would serve honestly and fearlessly in the board of aldermen.

Mr. Delaney said he has been in business in this city for 22 years, and while never actively engaged in politics he has kept a close eye on the doings at city hall and he allows that he is pretty well acquainted with municipal affairs in general. He came out with the statement that he is a firm believer in organized labor. "My shop is a union shop, I am a member of the tailors' union and I will adhere to union principles," said Mr. Delaney. He is also a member of Division 3, A. O. U.

WIGGIN'S QUARTERS

McKINLEY, BROWN, MURPHY AND OTHERS SPOKE

Any old kind of a republican candidate had the privilege of speaking at the rally at Burton H. Wiggin's headquarters in ward three, last evening, and as candidates great and small were there, Mr. David Dickson, the president officer, had no difficulty in selecting speakers. Of course as Mr. Wiggin is paying the rent, he was entitled to speak first, even as the little boy who owned the ball always had "scrub" without dispute. Mr. Wiggin said that he would like another term and hoped the voters would give it to him. "When the Robbins Homestead Fly," said an unkind third warder as he finished.

BURTON WIGGIN
Candidate for School Committee

Mr. Dickson, a veteran of the celebrated Ward Three club of forensic memory, then assumed the position of referee, and introduced the fighters in order.

Candidate McKinley

Hon. James McKinley was the first in the mayoralty class and the Hon. James was right there with a business administration and anti-extravagance speech. He believed in moving with the people and keep apart with conditions, and he stated that if elected he would trot in double harness with existence without the extravagance. He said he would make a lively but a fair fight, and if defeated would remove his coat and hustle for the party's nominee. In return he would expect the assistance of the other candidates. A bunch of cheers was heaped the Hon. James as he resumed his seat.

Mr. Brown Speaks

Mr. Dickson then introduced Candidate George H. Brown, with the whispered instructions: "Go as far as you like, George," and then David sat back and smiled reminiscently as his mind reverted to the good old days of Steve

Puffer and his never-falling, "We have with us tonight."

Mr. Brown was in poor voice, but his spirits were fine, and he struck out from the shoulder. "I am a candidate for office for an honest purpose. I have no brewery, no wholesale liquor dealer, no head of department behind me. My hands are not tied, and they'll not be when I'm elected mayor. I stand for a clean administration and for freedom of thought and speech for the employees of the various municipal departments. At present there is a yoke of tyranny around the necks of city employees and they are afraid to vote without consulting the head of the department for whom they work. If I am elected I'll remove any head of a department who attempts to make his department a political machine. My opponents are tied up with corporate interests, mostly green-labeled or amber-hued, but none can thus accuse me."

Mr. Brown received a handful of cheers.

J. Stuart Murphy

And then came J. Stuart Murphy, his eye ablaze with indignation and his attitude crying louder than words could express: "Let me at him!" Said Mr. Murphy:

"I've just learned that I am neither the proprietor of the Harvard brewery nor in collusion with his managers. This is indeed amazing. This prospect who is going to lead us poor, miserable citizens of Lowell to the land of plenty, this victim of two years, this defender of the weak and humble, made a statement here tonight (I only heard him make one for I arrived late) which he knows is untrue and which every man who knows me knows is untrue."

"I am running for the mayoralty at the request of personal friends and because I think I can, if elected to office, bring about needed changes at city hall. Changes which ought to be made, ones which would speak for themselves if they were made. I wear no man's collar and I defy this Moses man here or anywhere else to connect me with any corporation or individual who would dictate my administration."

The speaker devoted a half-hour to an explanation of the planks of his platform, viz., a new city charter, investigation of methods and finances in the city departments.

Mr. Murphy in conclusion said that while he wasn't looking for trouble still if it did come he could worst any man in the house, or to be more accurate, he said that he did not intend to sling mud unless put to it, and then he could sling it with both hands, and Mr. Murphy sat down amid the plaudits of the multitude. Then the alderman candidates trotted out and each spoke his little piece and a good sized gas bill was run up ere the meeting adjourned, but Mr. Wiggin is good for that.

Brown Still Busy

Besides speaking at the Wiggin headquarters Mr. Brown addressed a big gathering at the corner of Fletcher and Willie streets.

This noon, he said, he would address the employees of the Mohair Brush Co. at the mill gate. "I'd rather talk politics to them at the mill gate than go to their banquet and break up the good time by making a political speech." At 7.30 tonight he said he

Water Drinkers Seldom Have Rheumatism or Bad Kidneys

"The people here do not drink enough water to keep healthy," exclaimed a well-known authority. "The numerous cases of kidney and bladder disease and rheumatism are mainly due to the fact that the drinking of water, nature's greatest medicine, has been neglected."

Stop loading your system with medicine and cure-alls; but get on the water wagon. If you are really sick, shaking well in bottle and take in teaspoonful doses after each meal and at bedtime, but don't forget the water. Drink plenty and often.

This valuable information and simple prescription should be posted up in each household and used at the first sign of an attack of rheumatism, backache or urinary trouble, no matter how rheumatism; the urine must be non-slight.

It would be at Hoxford square. At 8 o'clock he will go to the Zion Cricket club. Later he will meet informally the Scottish clans, and finally he will address the French-American citizens at their hall in Dutton street.

He will also show some instances of municipal extravagance, and will give a few inside facts on the liquor medicine held some time ago. I want the voters to understand that if elected I intend to serve all the people and the humblest citizen may approach me as easily as the wealthiest man. I'm going to stop advertising Mr. J. Stuart Murphy from now on. The great body of the voters would not have known that he was a candidate had I not referred to him in some of my speeches."

Rev. Fr. Brullard, O. M. I. celebrated the mass and also performed the marriage ceremony. Mr. Joseph Gaudette was the bridegroom's witness, and the bride was attended by her father, Mr. Cyrille Vincent. After the ceremony, a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride, 55 Race street. Mr. and Mrs. Dion left afterwards, on the 10.35 train, for their honeymoon trip. They will live in Montreal, and have received many beautiful gifts.

PARKSIDE CLUB

HELD A DANCING PARTY IN O. U. A. M. HALL

The second annual dancing party of the Parkside Social club was held last night in O. U. A. M. hall. Despite the disagreeable weather the attendance was very large and the affair proved to be a success.

A dance order of 20 numbers with extras was carried out and music for dancing was furnished by the Calumet orchestra.

One of the features of the dance was the decorations, which had been used profusely. The hall was one glowing mass of color from the long streamers of light blue and white and the festoons of the same colors which hid the standards of the electrolers.

Those largely responsible for the success of the affair were:

ALDERMEN TO MEET

A special meeting of the board of aldermen that will have to do with the resignation and appointing of precinct officers has been called for Friday night.

JOHN W. DALY

OPENED HIS HEADQUARTERS LAST EVENING

John W. Daly, who is one of the candidates for the democratic mayoralty nomination, opened his headquarters in the Glidden building last evening and the place was crowded with his supporters. In response to a demand for a speech Mr. Daly said that he was well satisfied with the progress of the campaign and with the encouragement he is receiving. He referred to his career at city hall and spoke of some of the important resolutions in the passage of which he aided by his voice and vote.

Mr. Daly also spoke to a large gathering in a hall in Middle street where a number of voters of wards two and seven assembled and an organization for these two wards was perfected.

MATRIMONIAL

AN EARTHQUAKE

Shook the Death Valley Miners
From Their Bunks

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif., Nov. 11.—Death Valley and the surrounding country are in the throes of a series of earthquakes, which began three weeks ago, and the most violent of which occurred last Wednesday morning before daylight.

Samuel Lawrence, who has reached here, says that for three weeks there have been one or two rumbles daily. The shocks were light until Wednesday, when the crags of the Funeral range seemed to totter.

Miners were tossed from their bunks, camp equipment was scattered about, horses and mules stampeded and immense boulders were thrown down. At daybreak the miners left the camp in consternation.

SIX WERE KILLED

U. P. Train Collided With an Engine and Caboose

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Nov. 11.—Six persons were killed and three others badly injured last night when a Union Pacific extra freight, number 2223, east bound, collided with an engine and caboose at Berie, west of Cheyenne.
Thirty cars were piled in a heap with the engine underneath and the wreckage took fire and burned fiercely. It is known that Engineer Schley, Conductor Murphy and Fireman Christensen are among the dead. The body of Schley and an unknown person have been recovered. Four other bodies are still under the wreckage.

The freight train got beyond control of the brakes and ran seven miles down a heavy grade to Berie where the collision occurred.

GUTTED BY FIRE

DUBLIN, Nov. 11.—The council chamber of the Dublin city hall was gated by fire today and the city hall itself had a narrow escape from destruction. All the paintings in the rooms of the council chamber, many of which were of historic interest, including the well known picture of Daniel O'Connell, were destroyed by the flames.

THEY'RE ALL ANXIOUS TO GET THE LUCKY BONE

PRINCIPAL BURTT

Addressed the Teachers and the Pupils

OF THE EVENING HIGH SCHOOL
LAST NIGHT

He Explained the Purpose of the Fire Drill and Urged the Pupils to Take the Civil Service Course—Judge
Hadley to Lecture

In the high school hall last evening
Mr. Carl D. Burtt addressed the teachers and pupils. He spoke first of the fire drills, explaining their purpose and the interest that should be taken in them by pupils and teachers. It should be the ambition of every scholar to so acquaint himself with the drill as to be able to go through it without a hitch.

Mr. Burtt also proffered some advice as to the proper use of an education.

He said that after having acquired the full high school course the boy should then take the civil service course so that he would be fit for a civil service position should one present itself. He said it was too bad that boys with a high school education should be satisfied with the mill. "Be up and doing, and you'll get there," was his slogan.

Mr. Burtt announced that at the Greenhouse school this evening Judge Hadley will lecture on Lowell in the early days and that the proceeds of the lecture would go toward the Lincoln memorial.

Mr. Burtt also spoke to the boys about being punctual in all things and at all times. He said there wasn't any room now for the man who was not punctual. He spoke of scholars coming in late and disturbing the whole school.
Not to be punctual, he said, meant utter failure.

NIGHT EDITION

TO HOLD HEARING

On Petition to Restrain City From Paying Contractor Walker

A hearing on the petition to restrain the city from paying the full amount of the contract price on the new Highland school job will open before a single justice in the superior court in this city on Monday next.

The original intention of the petition was not only to restrain the city from paying the contractor who was awarded the job, James H. Walker, but also to restrain the contractor from proceeding with the work.

It was agreed, however, that the contractor proceed with the work but that no money be paid until the hearing was gone through with and judgment passed. The petitioners who are local contractors allege that when the contract was executed certain things in the specifications were done away with in order to make it easier for the contractor and along this line they allege collusion between the contractor and Inspector Smith of the lands and buildings department. The respondents in the case are Contractor Walker, the mayor, the city treasurer, and the inspector of lands and buildings. City Solicitor Hill will appear for the city officials and James J. Kerwin for Mr. Walker. Albert S. Howard will appear for the petitioners.

So far as the work on the school is concerned the matter will be of interest because of the fact that the school is nearly finished. The outside work is practically all done, the boilers have been installed, the wires for the electric lights are in position and the building has been piped for gas and will soon be ready for plastering.

Boston Man

BOSTON, Nov. 11.—Two New York youths, W. F. Duncan, aged 19, and Joseph Moran, aged 20, were given state prison sentences after pleading guilty of robbery in the superior criminal court today. Duncan was sentenced to a term of six or eight years while Moran was given seven to nine years. On October 4 the young men held up at the point of a pistol Ernest Jenkins, clerk at the Hotel Touraine, as he was walking up Columbia road in the Dorchester district. They took from him a watch and a

Smallpox Cases Have Been Discovered at Brattleboro, Vt.

BRATTLEBORO, Vt., Nov. 11.—Following the discovery that a number of school children, supposed to be suffering with chickenpox were in reality afflicted with a mild form of smallpox, Dr. Henry Holton of this place, secretary of the state board of health, today ordered all the schools, both public and parochial, closed until Nov. 20. This smallpox, which is a mild type, is not contagious and is not fatal. The first case was noticed on Nov. 1, and since then about thirty boys and girls have been taken ill.

LAID AT REST

Funeral of Levi Dumas
Held Today

The funeral of Mr. Levi Dumas was held at the residence on Ash street at 10.30 this morning, with many sympathizing friends from the city and other places present. The pastor of High Street church, where Mr. Dumas was long an attendant, officiated, and the services were simple, including besides the reading of Scripture and prayer the singing of "Lead, Kindly Light" and "Heart, Be Still," and the reading of Bryant's "Funeral of an Old Man".

"Why weep you then for him, who, having won the bound of man's appointed years, at last, life's blessings all enjoyed, life's labors done, serenely to his final rest has passed: While the soft memory of his virtues yet lingers like twilight hues, when the bright sun is set?"

CITY SOLICITOR

Will Have Busy Time
Next Week

Next week will be a busy one for the city solicitor. Besides the jury waived cases he will have to go before the full bench for argument in the Harrison Durham case. It will be remembered that Mr. Durham asked for an abatement of taxes on property in Nesmith street and the abatement was denied him by the assessors. He took the matter to the superior court and the assessors were sustained. Exceptions were filed and the case went to the full bench.

HORSE SHOW

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—The horse show is again in full swing and large crowds today gave an animated setting to the huge tankard ring around which high class thoroughbreds showed their best paces, dispelling all doubts in the directors' minds that this year's show would be a success. Today's program was filled with attractive events for the spectator as well as the expert horseman. Following the preliminary gallop of the horses during the early hours trotters were judged. Preliminary trials of a large class of hunters over four successive jumps, five feet high, was an event that was roundly applauded. Other numbers to come later in the day are judging of ponies in harness; harness horses, ladies to drive; saddle horses, horses shown to pleasure for the Brewster prize; judging trotters, stallions, horses shown to runabouts and similar class shown to broughams.

SCHOOL TEACHERS

Will Receive Pay if Mayor Farnham Signs Order

Included in the $115,000 loan order, adopted by the common council last night in concurrence with the board of aldermen, is $30,000 for the school department, and if Mayor Farnham signs the order the school teachers will receive their pay this week.

Judging from the telephone calls registered at the city auditor's office, the teachers are fearful that they will have to go another week without their legal and allowed stipend. It looks like a case of "we need the money," and it is up to Mayor Farnham.

In order to relieve the mental pressure with the school teachers, The Sun reporter asked the mayor if he had signed the order.

"Will you sign it?" asked the reporter, who incidentally threw in a few heart beats about the poor school teachers.

BY FOUR VOTES STOCK MARKET

O'Connell Wins His Fight for Congress

BOSTON, Nov. 11.—Congressman Joseph T. O'Connell won yesterday in the recount of the vote of the 10th congressional district over J. Mitchell Galvin, his republican opponent, by four votes.

The fight was now carried to the house of representatives in Washington, where it will be contested by Mr. Galvin on the advice of the republican leaders of the state. There are over 100 contested ballots, all of which have been counted one way or the other.

Boston cut O'Connell's plurality of 41 in the district down to two votes, but the present congressman gained one vote in Quincy and one in Milton, which gives him a plurality of four in the district.

The official vote, announced by the election commissioners for Boston only, after the revision, was Galvin 12,952 and O'Connell 14,578. The recount gave Galvin 13,004, a gain of 52, and O'Connell 14,590, a gain of 12. This gave Galvin a net gain of 33 with which to offset O'Connell's apparent lead of 41, which with the two out-of-town votes gives O'Connell the election by four votes.

MANY LIVES LOST

In Rear-end Collision of Trains
Near New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 11.—In a rear-end collision on the New Orleans and Northeastern at Littlewoods, 16 miles from this city, many persons are known to have been killed and a number injured.

The accident was caused by a Great Northern train running into a Northeastern incoming passenger train.

The Northeastern was made up of five coaches and a baggage car and all were derailed. The wreckage caught fire but was soon extinguished.

Up to 10.15 o'clock nine dead bodies and twenty injured had been taken from the wreckage and many more were believed to be in the wrecked cars.

Meagre details of the accident were received by telephone communication from Littlewoods.

It appears that the Northeastern train which was late was overtaken about 8 o'clock by the Great Northern train from Covington. The latter train dashed into the rear of the former causing the wreck.

Early efforts were devoted to extinguishing the flames which started as soon as the wreck occurred.

A relief train was at once sent to the scene.

It is reported that the fatalities are confined to the Northeastern passengers, no one being injured in the Great Northern train.

The Great Northern train crashed through the full and empty coaches most of those in the former being either killed or injured.

Later reports from the wreck say the scene is horrible. The relief train had not arrived at 10.30 a. m. Only one doctor was aboard either of the trains.

A Mr. Martin of Shidell was killed outright. Mr. Lowry of Chicago was also one of those killed.

Exactly how the collision occurred is not yet known.

"PORTLAND FATTY"

Is Wanted For Robbery of a
Bank In Canada

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—When several central office detectives were strolling through Chinatown the other night looking for suspicious characters they took into custody a party of four men because they had recognized two of them as safebreakers. One of the strangers who described himself as Gen. William Munroe of Cumberland, Me. made a touching plea for freedom.

He knew nothing of the men in whose company he had been found, he said, and the fact that two of them had police records came to him as a great shock.

Today Munroe, or as the police say he is better known "Portland Fatty," is in a cell awaiting the call of Canadian officials who wish to take him across the border to tell what he knows of the robbery of a bank in Quebec. In the pockets of the prisoner the police found a number of certificates. Inquiry developed that the bank was robbed on Oct. 23. The Canadian authorities were notified of the arrest of "Portland Fatty" and two officers came here today to attempt to bring about his extradition to Canada.

AS DRINK CURE THOMAS MULVEY

Use Hypnotism Says
Harvard Professor

BOSTON, Nov. 11.—"I had to hypnotize only recently a well-known New York author whose secret trouble is that he has never written a page of his brilliant books but after inter-temperate use of whiskey."

"I remember well a man who was president of an abstinence society for many years and then used once for medicinal purposes a glass of brandy, and as he had not been trained in any moderation the one glass stirred up a craving for more until he was lying in the gutter, and when he was brought to me to be hypnotized he confessed that he had no will to abstain from over-indulgence."

At the present time the kitchen and cooking apparatus are on the licensed premises of The Joyce Co., and these will have to be moved, and several changes have got to be made before the board will take any definite action.

Mr. John Dorsey, a prominent member of the S. A. O. H., is dangerously ill at his home in Methuen street.

THE TARIFF BILL

To be Prepared by the Republican Members

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—The committee on ways and means of the house today continued its hearings on the tariff bill. These public hearings which are for the purpose of gathering information useful in the work of revising the tariff are part of the tariff changes proposed by Chairman Payne on the floor of the house last May. Mr. Payne then said:

"We propose to call the whole committee together immediately after the election and invite people to come in here who have knowledge on the subject to impart such information as they are able to give to the whole committee, republicans and democrats."

"After these hearings are closed we propose to call together the majority members of the committee as was done with the Wilson bill and to ask our democratic friends, or rather to beguile them from attendance upon the sessions of the majority of the committee while we are framing a tariff bill. When we have framed it we will call them in again and submit our work to them and finally we will submit our work to the congress. It will be a revision of the tariff; it will be a protective tariff; it will be a maximum and minimum tariff, I believe, putting us on an equality with France, Germany and Russia in that respect. That is the republican program."

There was little argument presented to the committee at yesterday's hearing to indicate any general desire for a change, either higher or lower. In the present rates of duty on articles coming under schedule "A" of the Dingley tariff. Today, however, there were indications of conflicting views regarding the present duties on certain paints and colors, it being claimed by some that certain of these

It was gratifying, he declared, that the court found that "our methods and success have not injured the consumers of tobacco, have

HERBERT D. HALE

Well Known Architect is Dead

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—Herbert D. Hale, son of the late Edward Everett Hale and one of the best known architects of this city, is dead at his home here. He died here last night after a long illness from nervous disorder. He was 45 years of age. He was born in Boston and entered Harvard in 1884. After graduation he went to Paris and took the regular course at the Beaux Arts. After his return to this country he married Miss Margaret Marquand. Five children survive him. Mr. Hale designed the Engineers' building and other notable structures in the city. In competition with the best architects his design for the new postoffice building in New Orleans was accepted. He was a member of the Players' club and the University club of Boston.

LEARNS OF SON'S DEATH

BOSTON, Nov. 11.—The death of his son, Herbert Dudley Hale, was communicated to the Rev. Edward Everett Hale in Roxbury today and the venerable divine received the news with grief but with resignation.

Mr. Hale had an office in this city but spent most of his time in New York. He had been in poor health for nearly three years and sought relief by a trip abroad. During the past few months he failed so that the announcement of his death occasioned no surprise.

It is expected that the body will be brought here for burial.

THREE WIDOWS

TO SHARE IN THE GREENOUGH ESTATE

BOSTON, Nov. 11.—The appeal in the contest of the will of Joseph F. Greenough, who died two years ago in Boston, and whose estate valued at $1,300,000, is sought by three women, all claiming to be widows of the deceased, was formally withdrawn in court yesterday. It is understood that a compromise was effected and that while the court declared Martha D. Higgins Greenough the first wife and lawful widow, all three widows will share in the distribution, together with Joseph S. Greenough, son of the third wife.

USED HORSEWHIP

William Jackson Got Severe Lashing

MIDDLEBURY, Vt., Nov. 11.—With a rawhide whip which she had concealed under her clothing, Mrs. Cranston Owens, wife of a former Middlebury physician, administered a vigorous beating to Postmaster William Jackson on Main street yesterday afternoon, during the busy hours, before a crowd of more than 100 people. Mrs. Owens was arrested later on a warrant sworn out by Mr. Jackson, charging assault. She was taken to the Addison county jail, where she was given a hearing last night before Justice A. W. Dickens, pleading guilty and paying a fine of $1 and costs.

MET BURGLAR

WAKEFIELD MAN ALLOWED HIM TO ESCAPE

WAKEFIELD, Nov. 11.—J. H. Carrey, superintendent of the Wakefield public schools, had an interesting experience with a burglar last evening in his home at 126 Chestnut street. His family was away from home during the day and when he entered the front door he was surprised to hear somebody coming down the front stairs. He asked who it was, and for an answer got:

"A robber and a good shot, too. You stay where you are and don't make any noise as I intend to go out that door."

Mr. Carrey was unprepared to fight, and he allowed the burglar to walk out unmolested.

The robber took a gold watch and gold scarf pin.

DORANDO COMING

TO RACE WITH JOHN J. HAYES HERE

LONDON, Nov. 11.—Dorando, the Italian runner who made such a sensational finish in the Marathon race held here last summer, will leave Southampton for New York today on board the steamer Kron Princess Cecilie. He is accompanied by his brother Bruno, who is a waiter in a London restaurant. Dorando was formerly in America with John J. Hayes, the winner of the Marathon. He is in good shape and confident of victory, and will continue his training on board the steamer.

RIVAL SUGAR COS.

Said to be About to Renew Their Old Fight

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—Price reductions in refined sugar caused rumors to circulate in the trade today of a renewal of the old fight between the American Sugar Refining Co. and Arbuckle Bros. These reports have been based on the scaling down of the margin between raw and refined sugar which has been in progress of late. The normal margin between raw sugar and refined is about ninety cents a hundred pounds. The gradual reduction which has been in progress has brought the difference down to seventy-three cents. This amount, according to trade estimates, is little more than the cost of refining and cuts down usual profits by about two-thirds. It was declared in circles supposedly well informed, however, that the action of the two concerns in reducing prices was due to growing competition for business, and it was in no sense a bitter war such as was waged before. It was also said that the agreement reached some years ago between the late President Havemeyer and Arbuckle Bros. had terminated and the latter declined to renew it. This understanding was reached about six years ago and resulted in closing the breach between the two concerns, and until a month ago they had been acting in harmony.

MRS. READ'S FRIENDS

To Aid in Defending Her Against Extortion Charge

DENVER, Colo., Nov. 11.—That Mrs. Allan Read, the Denver woman who on Monday last attempted to extort $20,000 from Mrs. Chandler Phipps, the wealthy society leader, threatening destruction by dynamite to her and to her child, Helen, unless she complied with the demand, will have the support of her husband and friends in this city should it become necessary to defend her act in the criminal courts, is evident from the arrangements already underway to trace through detective agencies her wanderings since leaving Buffalo Park, Colo. three weeks ago to attend the funeral of her father at Pittsfield, Mass.

That she will not be allowed to go free without being proven that she acted from an insane impulse at a time when she was entirely unaccountable to herself or to others, is just as evident from steps taken by Mrs. Phipps divorced husband, Lawrence C. Phipps, the Pittsburgh millionaire, who late last night had his attorney, Gerald Hughes, request the police authorities to rearrest Mrs. Read and hold her pending further investigation of the attempt at blackmail. In an interview published this morning, Mrs. Phipps is credited with saying she will prosecute Mrs. Read and that she believed formal proceedings had already begun.

When Chief Armstrong questioned Mrs. Read after her arrest Monday, she referred several times to a woman she called Madame Leroy. She said she was to meet Madame Leroy at the Union depot at a certain hour that day and in order to investigate this assertion the chief detailed detectives to escort her to the station but no such person appeared. The fact that so much of Mrs. Read's story has been found to be true has convinced the police that there must have been another woman in the affair who gave to Mrs. Read the name of Madame Leroy. It is believed that Mrs. Read met some woman while returning west, perhaps a professional blackmailer, who took advantage of her weakened condition aggravated by the use of drugs, to alleviate bodily pain, and prevailed upon her to enter into a plot to blackmail Mrs. Phipps. Mrs. Read, during a rambling talk, mentioned that she and Madame Leroy had arranged to go to Europe together. A theory is that the so-called Madame Leroy might be some international adventuress and communication has gone forth from the friends of Mrs. Read to ascertain if it is known if any foreign adventuress is sojourning in this country at present. Mrs. Read has always been regarded as a woman of considerable strength of character and determination, but no one in this city has ever heard of her as ever attempting such an act as she is under detention for in this city.

KAISER ATTACKED

Members of Reichstag Again Bitterly Assail German Emperor

BERLIN, Nov. 11.—The reichstag was crowded again today when the debate about the interview with Emperor William, published in the London Telegraph, was resumed. The house listened with undiminished attention while the constitutionality of Emperor William's private interposition in the foreign affairs of the nation was discussed. Chancellor Von Buelow and all the other ministers including Baron Von Kulerden-Waechter, the acting foreign minister, were present and the diplomatic and other galleries were crowded.

Baron Gamp, conservative, said he thought that the bitterness shown yesterday by Herr Liebermann von Sonnenberg, the agrarian and anti-semitic, was no way to treat such a sorrowful subject. It was tragic, he said, that a sovereign with so many admirable qualities should find himself in such a plight. His majesty's trouble ought rather to be ascribed to his responsible advisors who since the time of Bismarck never have been able to tell his majesty the truth; never have been able to tell his majesty plainly his constitutional duties. Baron Gamp was followed by several other members of the reichstag who reviewed the acts of the emperor and complained of the constitutional frontiers. Carl Schuler, radical, said Emperor William should be in Berlin attending to affairs of state rather than at Friedrichshafen watching the aspersions of the Zeppelin airship. Oscar von Norrmann, extreme conservative, said that his wing of the conservatives was satisfied with the explanations given by Prince Von Buelow and Konrad Haussmann, Bavarian radical, attacked the conduct of the chancellor throughout the entire incident of the Telegraph interview.

A VIOLENT BREAK

In Stocks of the Harriman Pacific Railroads

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—A violent break in prices of stocks of the Harriman Pacific railroads caused a feverish tone in the early stock market today. These stocks were unloaded in enormous amounts by speculators who bought them yesterday on rumors that dividends were to be advanced at the directors meetings today. Yesterday rumors were discredited over night and the belief prevailed that only the regular dividends would be declared. Soon after the opening Southern Pacific sold down to 116 1-4 compared with 117 7-8 at the close last night and 119 1-8 at the highest yesterday. The low price for Union Pacific on the break was 179 3-8 compared with 181 at the close last night and 181 5-8 at the highest yesterday. The whole market declined in sympathy, losses running from 1 to 2 points in the active stocks. Support became effective in the course of the first half hour and prices rallied with the effect of quieting the activity which had been at a furious rate.

DENVER, Colo., Nov. 11.—The News today says:

"President Roosevelt's snub to Samuel Gompers will be resented by John Mitchell, Daniel Keefe and James Duncan as soon as they receive the president's invitation to attend his legislative dinner at the White House next Tuesday."

"These three members of the executive council of the American Federation of Labor yesterday decided that they will refuse the invitations."

"The invited officials decided that if President Roosevelt wanted to do anything in the interest of labor it must be done through the organization, the American Federation of Labor, recognized as the parent body of all unions in the country."

The Trial of Four Men Begun in New York

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—What was asserted to be the practical marooning of 3000 men in the wild and inaccessible regions of Florida and their detention there under hard labor for a period of several months before Judge Hough and a jury in the U. S. circuit court, in the course of the trial of the government's case against employers and agents of the Florida East Coast Railway company, for alleged violation of the statute prohibiting "peonage, slavery and enforced servitude."

UPHOLD THE COURT

Grand Master Workman Hayes Advises the K. of L.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 11.—Speaking before the Knights of Labor here yesterday at the session of the Grand Assembly, General Master Workman John W. Hayes criticised sharply the officers of certain irresponsible organizations who, he said, continually preach the tyranny of employers. He advocated the upholding of the courts, declared that the Knights of Labor cannot be degraded to politically and charged that the Immigration bureau is giving aliens an unreasonable advantage over our own citizens in the search for work. He said in part:

The rights of labor are now being discussed by thinking men and women all over the world. They occupy a place second to none in the discussions of the day, and the only people who seem to ignore or doubt their importance are the workmen themselves. To many workmen, however, it is yet the trade union of old, the demand for hours and conditions secured through the strike and the boycott, with never a thought for the rights of others. The responsibility for this immense amount of ignorance is due largely, if not entirely, to local and national officers of certain irresponsible organizations, who continually preach of the tyranny of employers and thereby keep the membership greatly agitated and their minds warped to such a degree that they believe all employers to be the sworn enemies of all workmen.

It is conceded that American labor, either through organizations or individually, has the right to petition for changes in the law, or for the enactment of new laws which to them may seem necessary. This right does not carry with it, however, the privilege of abusing and denouncing the courts as a school of despotism, wherein no man's interest is safe. The courts are a recognized part of our American system of government; and while honest and impartial criticism is permissible and accepted by fair-minded judges, the right to instill into the minds of the membership of a union, many of whom cannot understand our language, and are not familiar with our method of government, the idea that our courts are inimical to the interests of those who work, is wrong and deserving of the most severe condemnation.

Should Not Denounce Courts
Let no Knight of Labor be guilty of denouncing the courts for the error of a single judge. Rather let us labor for the correction of whatever faults we may see in them.

Now, although the order of the Knights of Labor is assuming its rightful place in the labor movement, it is nevertheless retarded occasionally by some short-sighted, feather-brained person, not a member of our order, who, by accident, trickery or for some unaccountable reason, has been elevated to leadership in his union. Such men delight in proselyting among the members of our order rather than devoting their time to building up the unions from among the unorganized.

Gompers Hoodwinked Democrats
During the political campaign just closed, the question of injunctions in labor disputes was more generally discussed than ever before, and became so prominent as to be regarded as the leading issue. Unfortunately, it was not fairly presented by either of the great parties. The democrats were hoodwinked by the Gompers faction of the Federation of Labor into advocating a radical proposition, which was interpreted to include the provisions of the Federal Labor law, which the Knights of Labor have always been opposed as impracticable and iniquitous; while the republicans went to the other extreme of denying the utility of any reform whatever in the existing law. Our position was the same as that embodied in the bill introduced in the first session of the 59th congress by Mr. Gilbert, which provided that in cases involving or growing out of labor disputes, neither an injunction nor a temporary restraining order should be granted except upon due notice to the opposite party by the court in term, or by a judge in vacation after hearing, which might be ex parte if the adverse party did not appear at the time and place ordered, with the proviso that no injunction or restraining order whatever should issue in any case when it is now authorized by existing law.

WOMEN SCOUTS

Being Used by Band of Robbers

PORTLAND, Me., Nov. 11.—The existence of an organized gang of robbers working in different states and sending their loot to a common "fence" for disposal, is proved by recent robberies in Providence, Portland and other cities, say the police here.

Women sent out in advance decide on the valuables in the stores which they think will suit their purpose best and then return to the actual stealing. When informed of the robbery, $5000 worth of furs at Providence, E. I. Chief of Police Dresser said it undoubtedly was the work of professionalists and that the general method of operating was the same as at the Palmer store in this city, from which $2500 worth of selected furs were stolen last week.

Chief Dresser said similar robberies have been reported from New Haven, Cincinnati and Cleveland within three weeks and was firm in the belief that a gang is engaged in this work, operating for a big "fence." He believes it includes one or more women, who visit the stores and locate the valuable furs.

In addition to the fur robberies here, $6000 worth of goods was removed from a hair store and $1500 worth of jewelry from another shop, all three stores being in the centre of the shopping district.

2500 RECRUITS FOR ILLEGAL SALE

To be Sent to the Newport Naval Training Station

NEWPORT, R. I., Nov. 11.—The officials of the Newport Training station are making arrangements for the accommodation of 2500 apprentices during the coming winter following a statement by Acting Secretary of the Navy Truman Newberry that the number of recruits to be sent here would reach that number. Should 2500 boys report here for instruction the number in attendance at present would be exceeded by more than 1000 and it is believed that it will be the greatest number to receive training here at one time.

The establishment of a new station in Chicago, started in the early spring which will take about 500 apprentices from this station is one of the reasons for the unusually large number and it is also expected that the San Francisco station will be augmented by an additional 800 recruits at the expense of the Newport station. This would deplete the 2500 to 1500 and the latter number is believed to be too small to fill the places which will be vacant when the world-circling fleet finishes its tour. However there will be ample time to put almost as many more through the early courses of instruction before their entrance into active service is necessary.

DR. P. E. SULLIVAN SEVERED HAND

Well Known Physician Passed Away

The many friends of Dr. Patrick E. Sullivan, one of Lowell's best known young physicians, will be deeply pained to learn of his death which occurred yesterday afternoon at the residence of his cousin, Miss Manlio Murphy, 31 Butterfield street, after an illness of several months' duration, and which had previously caused him to resign his position as ambulance surgeon and retire from active life. Through his position as ambulance surgeon, having succeeded the late Dr. Charles H. Ricker, he was well known throughout the city, and was well liked by all who knew him. Of scholarly attainments and possessed of a ready wit and a fund of humor, he was a favorite among his companions of the medical profession by whom his loss will be sincerely mourned.

Dr. Sullivan was well prepared in his profession. He was a graduate of Holy Cross college and a graduate of the Harvard medical school. He also spent several months at Bellevue hospital, New York, immediately following the attainment of his medical degree. In spite of his comparatively youthful age of 35 years, Dr. Sullivan had forged to the front in his profession, and had held a high place in the councils of the professional brothers. Through his work and his activity in fraternal fields he was unusually well known. He was for four years physician for the local aerie of Eagles, and had been physician for the Elks in this city, to which order he also belonged. Dr. Sullivan was also a member of pathology council, 1722, Royal Arcanum, one of the Jefferson Medical association.

He leaves besides the cousin at whose home he died, two other cousins in this city, Miss Madeline Leary and Daniel Leary, and cousins in Boston, Malden, Bangor, Me., and St. John, N. B.

SEVERED HAND

Produced in Court in Everson Case

The case of Everson vs. General Accident Fire and Insurance Company of Perth, Scotland, which has been on trial at the superior court for the past few days is undoubtedly one of the most stubbornly contested that has been heard here in a long time. It has abounded in unusual features. Shortly after its start the determination of the defence to make the plaintiff show that the agent who insured him was the authorized U. S. agent of the company, caused a postponement of the case for several days and necessitated writing to Philadelphia and cabling to Scotland. Yesterday Mr. Bassily, counsel for the defence, introduced an unusual feature by acting as a draughtsman and drawing a plan of a building for the jury, from detailed descriptions given by the plaintiff on the witness stand. Finally the severed right hand of the plaintiff, for the loss of which he is suing, was brought into court and experts in pathology, as the defence experts, to the jury and discussed by the plaintiff the loss of the member did not result from any of the causes that would entitle the plaintiff to recover under the terms of his policy.

The hand was severed about three inches above the wrist, and the question to be determined is whether or not the injury by burning, which was the cause of the amputation, could have been caused in the way the plaintiff claims.

Dr. Wm. T. Connellman, professor of pathology at Harvard, was called by the plaintiff's counsel, and testified to the condition of the hand, and his conclusions. The fingers were curled, claw fashion, and Dr. Connellman concluded that this position was caused by heat; there was some flame, but not much. The condition of the hand could not have been produced by acids, and the effect could not have been produced after the hand was amputated. He thought there was some flame, but the condition in which he found the tissue of the hand was produced largely by the action of heat, without flame. The plaintiff rested, and the defence, without making any opening, put on Dr. W. A. Christie, visiting surgeon of the St. John N. B. hospital. Dr. Christie amputated Mr. Everson's hand on the 20th of November, 1907. He saw the patient on the 18th, and came to the conclusion that there was a burn. He testified that there was well defined line, at the wrist, and above this line the tissue was not destroyed, but was normal. The fingers could be moved with a great deal of freedom, but the patient himself could not move them. The patient did not have sensation in his hand. The doctor identified the hand as the one he had amputated.

Dr. Murray MacMullen, a surgeon at St. John connected with the hospital, also testified that the injury could not have been received in the manner described by the plaintiff.

The defence then put in a document to show that Franklin H. Wood, who put in Mr. Everson's application and negotiated a policy for him, through the defendant company, was an authorized agent of the New York Life Insurance company of New York, and that he had no authority to act as agent for any other company, and was not licensed as a broker. This information came through a certificate from the insurance commissioner of the commonwealth.

The next piece of evidence was in the form of interrogatories and answers, forwarded through the office of the United States consul at St. John. A man named Henry Crawford testified to his knowledge of Mr. Everson's connection with the triplicate works.

The defence was finished at this forenoon's session and the arguments were in order this afternoon.

BIG REGISTRATION

FOR THE CITY ELECTION SHOWS INCREASED INTEREST

It is a sure thing now that the registration for state and city elections this year, will be record breakers. It is already more than 800 ahead of last year and they still keep coming. Yesterday 100 new names were put on the list.

The temporary license that covers the boiler being used to operate the trolley system of the Merrimack street sewer is pretty well covered with the cards of candidates for office and while Mr. Dickson, the Merrimack street sewer agent, is not a candidate for office he determined to get into the game somehow and in the midst of the politicians he tackled a big trade sign and announced that his store is headquarters for all political parties and their wives and he wants them all to vote for him as the king tea and coffee man of Lowell.

Osmond L. Field Was Fined $50 in Liquor Case Today

Osmond L. Field Was Fined $50 in Liquor Case Today

Osmond L. Field, the Merrimack street druggist, was arraigned in police court this morning on complaints charging him with illegal keeping, and sale of intoxicating liquors. Through his counsel, John J. Pickman, the defendant entered a plea of guilty, and was fined $50 for illegal sale, the case of illegal keeping being placed on file.

Early last Sunday morning Inspectors Atkinson and Dwyer called at Mr. Field's drug store and seized a quantity of liquor, after Mr. Field had sold liquor to the officers, who were in citizens' clothes.

Man Was Insane

Anthony Economides, who entered a complaint of assault and battery against Anastasios Beaufais, but who failed to put in an appearance yesterday morning when the case was called, was arrested yesterday afternoon, on a capias, by Constable Demaris in a coffee house in Market street. When the officer put in an appearance Economides attempted to hide himself, but was unsuccessful, and was taken to the police station.

In court this morning Economides stated that he was told that he would not have to go to court until next Tuesday morning, that being his reason for not appearing yesterday.

It is alleged that Economides is insane. He was confined at the asylum in Danvers for several months and later went to Greece, where it is alleged he assaulted his mother and afterwards came to this country and last Saturday attempted to stab his sister, Beaufais, who happened to be near the sister's house at the time, rushed into the house and found that Economides was attempting to stab his sister with a knife. Beaufais gave Economides a couple of blows and then threw him into the street.

Judge Hadley decided to continue the case till tomorrow and in the meantime Dr. Benner, the alienist, will examine Economides as to his sanity. Assailed Girls
Charles Sahadi and Harry Georgopoulos were arraigned in court this morning on complaints charging them with assault and battery on two girls, aged thirteen and fourteen years. Dennis J. Murphy appeared for Georgopoulos and John J. Harvey for Sahadi. By agreement of counsel and the court the cases were continued till November 18th, the defendants being held under $500 each.

Larceny Charge

The case of Samuel Cohen and John Smith, charged with the larceny of a horse of the value of $50 and a wagon of the value of $10 and a horse valued at $5, the property of Victor H. J. Belle 1st, was continued till Thursday, Nov. 12.

Charged With Assault

Hugh Duffy was charged with assault and battery on his wife, Mary A., last Sunday. Mrs. Duffy informed the court that her husband, without any reason, whatsoever, kicked her in the side and blackened one of her eyes. The defendant acknowledged that he had knocked his wife down but said he did not kick her. He was found guilty and sentenced to three months in jail and placed under $100 bonds to keep the peace for six months. Two first offenders were fined $3 each and one drunk was released without appearing in court.

Tonight will be Hibernian night at the Catholic charity bazaar which is being held in Boston. There will be a great parade of Hibernians starting at 7.30, and it is expected that there will be 15,000 men in line, including 50 military companies. There will be a delegation from Lowell take part in the turnout, though the different divisions will not take part as such.

THE SULLIVANS FOUGHT

ST. JOHN, N. B., Nov. 11.—The Sullivan Twins gave a good sparring exhibition here last night. In the first of the two 10-round bouts, Mike met Young Mahoney. The men went on about the same weights and what Mahoney lacked in science he made up in energy, forcing the fighting throughout the bout.

Mike did not have to exert himself much, and by clever blocking and sidestepping, easily took care of himself. Mahoney was game and put up a lively fight, but Mike's superior science gave him the best of the bout.

Jack and Jim Pendergast had a fast bout and no decision was given.

With Eight Mayoralty Candidates on the Jump

An Interesting "Knocking Bee" Held in Ward Three Last Evening — Mr. Casey Declares Against Moffatt — Cummings Greeted by Old Friends in Ward Two

Not in many years has Lowell witnessed such a lively and interesting mayoralty campaign as is being put up by the different candidates during these last days before the caucuses.

Each candidate is giving more personal attention to his own fight than has ever been given before, for all the talking is being done by the candidates themselves and the usual "leading republicans" and "leading democrats" have not been called upon as yet to get on the stump and declare themselves for one candidate or another.

The candidacy of George H. Brown, the most picturesque figure in the campaign, is worrying the republican leaders mightily for while at first they regarded him as a joke and perfectly harmless, they have discovered that if he is a joke the republican machine is

"Doctor's Daughter"

Stomach-Rite is keeping up its consistent work of curing sufferers of various forms of Stomach and Liver troubles as many letters and personal expressions of gratitude have testified.

"Doctor's Daughter" is pleased to know that her method of placing this remedy within the reach of every sufferer has benefited so many, and is appreciated by all, and wishes to thank you one and all for the kind words and helpfulness which have spurred her on in her life's work of relieving and curing sufferers with her now famous remedy, Stomach-Rite. Coming from a family with a record of 21 physicians, "Doctor's Daughter" bids fair to keep up this noble work with this remedy. All of you who have read her Health Notes know that her articles are full of common sense and to the point, that any one could read and understand. Stomach-Rite is on the same principle, a common sense remedy, that does the work, a remedy that has been tried and proved, as the following letters will testify:

Dear Doctor's Daughter—I wish to tell you what the Stomach-Rite Tablets have done for me. I was very sick and confined to my bed with an attack of stomach trouble for three whole weeks. My doctor was coming every day, but I got no better. My suffering was intense when you gave my husband a few of your Stomach-Rite Tablets to try. They relieved me at once. We immediately purchased a box and my suffering soon stopped and I was able to get up and dress. We would not be without them for anything. They have done for me what doctors failed to do. I have suffered with indigestion 15 years and had to be careful what I ate, but I can now eat anything and it does not hurt me. My husband and I cannot say too much in praise of Stomach-Rite Tablets.—Mrs. A. B. CARTER, 154 Pine St., Lewiston, Me.

Dear Doctor's Daughter—I bought the Stomach-Rite Tablets the first week you introduced them in Boston, and find them to be just what you say they are. For years I have been constipated and have taken something every night, but late at night. The four democratic candidates thus far are entitled to congratulations for the fair manner in which they have been conducting their campaign. As yet not one unkind word has been said by one of the four against any of the others, in striking contrast to the bitterness on the republican side. Such a condition of affairs before the caucus augurs well for democratic success at the polls.

Mr. Cummings' Rally

In the ward where he had lived for many years, ward two, Lawrence Cummings received welcome last evening that gladdened his heart. The rally was held in the polling booth at the corner of Fletcher and Willie streets, and was largely attended. The meeting was presided over by Mr. Stephen Monahan, who after brief remarks introduced Mr. Cummings, who spoke in part as follows: "It gives me particular pleasure to address this meeting tonight because it was in this very section, then known as old ward one, that I received my first training in life. As a result of this I have a personal acquaintance with many of the older voters of the ward, and they, I presume, know my qualifications.

"For the benefit of the young men I wish to make it clear that my purpose in attempting to reach the high office of mayor is because of the high honor which it confers on anyone who is fortunate enough to be selected by the people and also for the purpose of serving the will of the people in an honest and fearless manner.

"I feel certain that if I am nominated I can be elected. If successful next Tuesday night I feel assured of sufficient help to land in the mayor's chair and if I do I give you my word that I will be mayor all of the time and will not stand for the dictates of any individual or corporation possessed of selfish motives.

"I know the game of politics pretty well and I am well acquainted with the work of many of the departments of the city, so that no underhanded maneuvering would be tolerated by me.

"Should I be unsuccessful at the caucuses next Tuesday night I will very willingly lend my assistance to the successful candidate, and in return, I will offer to look for assistance from the other candidates if I poll the largest number of votes.

"I am not attempting to land the nomination by promising every other thing, I meet a position. If nominated and elected I will go to the mayor's chair without the slightest pledge or promise to anyone, although I appreciate very fully the work of my friends for my nomination."

Mr. Cummings spoke to a large number of voters at his headquarters later in the evening.

Casey in Belvidere

Hon. James B. Casey addressed two large audiences last evening, speaking first in the High street engine house and later at Odd Fellows hall, in Centralville. At both places Mr. Casey spoke on Sept. Moffatt and the need of a public hall. In the course of his remarks Mr. Casey said he would outline his policy if elected.

He then stated that he would prefer charges against the superintendent of police and if they were sustained he should cause his removal. He charged the superintendent with being too active in politics and that the police department is in a positively demoralized condition, without proper discipline and subject to rank favoritism. There shall be no arbitrary power used in the removal of the superintendent of police.

I am willing to waive the question whether he cannot be removed without charges preferred and after a hearing. I will prefer charges and demand a public hearing.

"This is the only night I shall make reference to this matter in this campaign. I speak of it now, because it is a fixed purgery in my mind, and I therefore should be plain and frank with the public in discussing it.

Carmichael and Daly

Col. Carmichael and ex-Alderman Col. held no rallies last evening but were at their headquarters during the evening, each working hard and conferring with voters from the various wards.

Mr. Derby's Friends

A meeting of the friends of Mr. Derby was held at the headquarters 48 Middle street, last evening with a large attendance and encouraging reports were made. Mr. Derby is still at Woodstock, N. H.

Delaney for Alderman

Last night while candidates for mayoralty honors were telling the voters of Lowell how the city's affairs ought to be conducted and what they would do if landed in the mayor's chair, John J. Delaney, candidate for nomination for alderman on the democratic ticket, was actively engaged at a meeting in his interests in the Manner block.

The meeting was attended by representatives from the different wards, and everybody seemed very enthusiastic. Mr. Delaney made a brief speech in which he explained his position. He thanked the representatives from the different wards for their enthusiasm and manifested, and declared that if nominated and elected he would serve honestly and fearlessly in the board of aldermen.

Mr. Delaney said he has been in business in this city for 22 years, and while never actively engaged in politics at city hall and he allows that he is pretty well acquainted with municipal affairs in general. He came out with the statement that he is a firm believer in organized labor. "My shop is a union shop, I am a member of the tailors' union and I will adhere to union principles," said Mr. Delaney. He is also a member of Division 8, A. O. U.

WIGGIN'S QUARTERS

McKINLEY, BROWN, MURPHY AND OTHERS SPOKE

Any old kind of a republican candidate had the privilege of speaking at the rally at Burton H. Wiggin's headquarters in ward three, last evening, and as candidates great and small were there, Mr. David Dickson, the president officer, had no difficulty in selecting speakers. Of course as Mr. Wiggin is paying the rent, he was entitled to speak first, even as the little boy who owned the ball always had "Scrubby" without dispute. Mr. Wiggin said that he would like another term and hoped the voters would give it to him. "When the Robins Homeward Fly," said an unkind third warder as Burt finished.

Mr. Dickson, a veteran of the celebrated Ward Three club of forensic memory, then assumed the position of referee, and introduced the fighters in order.

Candidate McKinley

Hon. James McKinley was the first in the mayoralty class and the Hon. James was right there with a business administration and anti-extravagance speech. He believed in moving with the people and keep pace with conditions, and he stated that if elected he would trot in double harness with existence without the extravagance. He said he would make a lively but a fair fight, and if defeated would remove his coat and hustle for the party's nominee. In return he would expect the assistance of the other candidates. A bunch of cheers was handed the Hon. James as he resumed his seat.

Mr. Brown Speaks

Mr. Dickson then introduced Candidate George H. Brown, with the wispered instructions: "Go as far as you like, George," and then David sat back and smiled reminiscently as his mind reverted to the good old days of Steve

Puffer and his never-falling, "We have with us tonight."

Mr. Brown was in poor voice, but his spirits were fine, and he struck out from the shoulder. "I am a candidate for office for an honest purpose, I have no brewery, no wholesale liquor dealer, no head of department behind me. My hands are not tied, and they'll not be when I'm elected mayor. I stand for a clean administration and for freedom of thought and speech for the employees of the various municipal departments. At present there is a yoke of tyranny around the necks of city employees and they are afraid to vote without consulting the head of the department for whom they work. If I am elected I'll remove any head of a department who attempts to make his department a political machine. My interests are tied up with corporate interests, mostly green-labeled or amber-hued, but none can thus accuse me."

Mr. Brown received a handful of cheers.

J. Stuart Murphy

And then came J. Stuart Murphy, his eye ablaze with indignation and his attitude crying louder than words could express: "Let me at him!" Said Mr. Murphy:

"I've just learned that I am neither the proprietor of the Harvard law office nor in collusion with the law office. This is indeed amazing. This prophet who is going to lead us, this defender of the weak and humble, made a statement here tonight (I only heard him make one for I arrived late) which he knows is untrue. I know it is untrue. Any man who knows it is untrue is a liar."

"I am running for the mayoralty at the request of personal friends, and because I think I can, if elected to office, bring about needed changes at city hall. Changes which ought to be made, ones which would speak for the honest citizen if they were made. I wear to man's collar and I defy this Moses from the Philippines, or any other man here or anywhere else to come with any corporation or individual who would dictate my administration."

The speaker devoted a half-hour to an explanation of the planks of his platform, viz., a new city charter, investigation of methods and finances in the city department.

Mr. Murphy in conclusion said that while he wasn't looking for trouble still if it did come he could worst any man in the house, or to be more accurate, he said that he did not intend to sling mud unless put to it, and then he could sling it with both hands, and Mr. Murphy sat down amid the plaudits of the multitude. Then the aldermanic candidates trotted out and each spoke his little piece and a good sized gas bill was run up ere the meeting adjourned, but Mr. Wiggin is good for

Brown Still Busy

Besides speaking at the Wiggin headquarters Mr. Brown addressed a big gathering at the corner of Fletcher and Willie streets.

This noon, he said, he would address the employees of the Manner Plush Co. at the mill gate. "I'd rather talk politics to them at the mill gate than go to their banquet and break up the good time by making a political speech." At 7.30 tonight he said he

Water Drinkers Seldom Have Rheumatism or Bad Kidneys

"The people here do not drink enough water to keep healthy." "The numerous cases of kidney and bladder diseases and rheumatism are mainly due to the fact that the drinking of water, nature's greatest medicine, has been neglected.

Stop loading your system with medicines and cure-alls; but get on the water wagon. If you are really sick, why, of course, take the proper medicines—plain common vegetable treatment, which will shatter the nerves or ruin the stomach."

To cure Rheumatism you must make the kidneys do their work; they are the filters of the blood. They must be made to strain out of the blood the waste matter and acids that cause rheumatism; the urine must be neutralized so it will no longer be a source of irritation to the bladder, and, most of all, you must keep these acids from forming in the stomach. This is the cause of stomach trouble and poor digestion. For these conditions you can do no better than take the following prescription: Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Mix by shaking well in bottle and take in teaspoonful doses after each meal and at bedtime, but don't forget the water. Drink plenty and often.

This valuable information and simple prescription should be posted up in each household and used at the first sign of an attack of rheumatism, backache or urinary trouble, no matter how slight.

would be at Hoxford square. At 8 o'clock he will go to the Zion Cricket club. Later he will meet informally the Scottish club, and finally he will address the French-American citizens at the Dutton street. "I intend to show some instances of municipal extravagance, and I'll give a few inside facts on the liquor analyses held some time ago. I want the voters to understand that if elected I intend to serve all the people and the humblest citizen my approach me as easily as the wealthiest man. I'm going to stop advertising Mr. J. Stuart Murphy from now on. The great body of the voters would not have known that he was a candidate had I not referred to him in some of my speeches."

JOHN W. DALY

OPENED HIS HEADQUARTERS LAST EVENING

John W. Daly, who is one of the candidates for the democratic mayoralty nomination, opened his headquarters in the Clifton building last evening and the place was crowded with his supporters. In response to a demand for a speech Mr. Daly said that he was well satisfied with the progress of the campaign and with the encouragement he is receiving. He referred to his career at city hall and spoke of some of the important resolutions in the passage of which he aided by his voice and vote.

Mr. Daly also spoke to a large gathering in a hall in Middle street where a number of voters of wards two and seven assembled and an organization for these two wards was perfected.

MATRIMONIAL

Mr. Antonio Dion, of Montreal, formerly of this city, and Miss Eva Vincent of this city, were married yesterday at the private chapel at St. Joseph's rectory in Merrimack street.

PARKSIDE CLUB

HELD A DANCING PARTY IN O. U. A. M. HALL

The second annual dancing party of the Parkside Social club was held last night in O. U. A. M. hall. Despite the disagreeable weather the attendance was very large and the affair proved to be a success.

A dance order of 20 numbers with extras was carried out and music for dancing was furnished by the Calumet orchestra.

One of the features of the dance was the decorations, which had been used profusely. The hall was one glowing mass of color from the long streamers of light blue and white and the festoons of the same colors which hid the standards of the electroluxes.

Those largely responsible for the success of the affair were:

SWORN CIRCULATION OF THE SUN

The sworn daily net average circulation of The Lowell Sun, for the year 1907 was

15,453

Sworn to by John H. Harrington, proprietor, Martin H. Rely, business manager, and Alfred Pilotte, pressman, of The Sun, before me, January 1, 1908.

JAMES E. O'DONNELL, Notary Public.

This is by far the largest net average circulation of any newspaper in Lowell.

Frothingham for lieutenant governor, having led Draper, will consider himself preeminently in the line of gubernatorial succession.

The chief effect of the independence league ticket in the municipal field will be to add to the work of the election officers, especially the counters.

When President Roosevelt called out his cabinet officials to aid in defeating the democratic party, it was not difficult to imagine an emergency in which he would as readily call out the army and navy.

KEEP MAD MEN CONFINED.

It was a Massachusetts lunatic who attempted to kill Postmaster Morgan of New York. He had been set free during a lucid spell and made his way to New York where he was unknown.

It seems that our institutions for the insane should be placed under more strict rules in order to prevent the liberation of men who are liable at any moment to become frenzied assassins, thirsting for homicide like Steele who set out to shoot Governor Guild but shot instead Cohen and Driscoll; or like Mackay who in the more recent case shot the New York postmaster and then ended his own miserable existence.

TO STAMP OUT MUNICIPAL GRAFTING.

How can grafting be stamped out at city hall? It is not so difficult a matter as some people suppose.

It is a common complaint that there is grafting in the city departments. The people who make this charge are very rarely able to give any proof in support of the charge, because they are on the outside. Yet it is morally certain that there is at least some truth in the charges.

But whether the grafters get away with much or little of the taxpayers' money, it is desirable to cut them off so that they cannot rob the city in any measure.

How will this be done? Some will say that under the present charter it is impossible to stamp out grafting. This is a mistake.

To put down municipal grafting all that is needed is to elect an able, fearless and incorruptible man for mayor. Let a chief executive with these qualities be placed in the mayor's chair and the grafters will flee from city hall, like rats from a sinking ship.

The very presence of a bold, honest, fearless man who knows the ins and outs of municipal affairs is enough to put them to flight. Elect such a man for mayor and the effect on our municipal government will be marvelous.

THE TENNESSEE OUTRAGE.

The deliberate shooting of ex-United States Senator Carmack by a young man who thought he had a grievance against the victim was an outrage of a kind that is far too common in the south.

Carmack was the editor of the Tennessean, and it appears that in a political campaign he criticized Cooper, the father of the young man who did the shooting.

Campaigns sometimes get overheated and some people mixed in them are too sensitive to criticism.

It is a principle of our American jurisprudence that when a man sets himself up as a candidate for public office, he invites the closest scrutiny of his record, his fitness for the office he seeks and even the exposure of anything damaging in his past life.

To rake up the antecedents of a private citizen not a candidate would be accepted as conclusive proof of malice; but not so in the case of the candidate for office.

If Carmack's offence was the mere criticism of a candidate, it was no offence at all, for in the interests of the public good it becomes necessary sometimes to criticize candidates and criticize them quite severely. But if Carmack criticized Cooper without cause and in an unjustifiable manner, the law provided a remedy in a suit for civil or criminal libel.

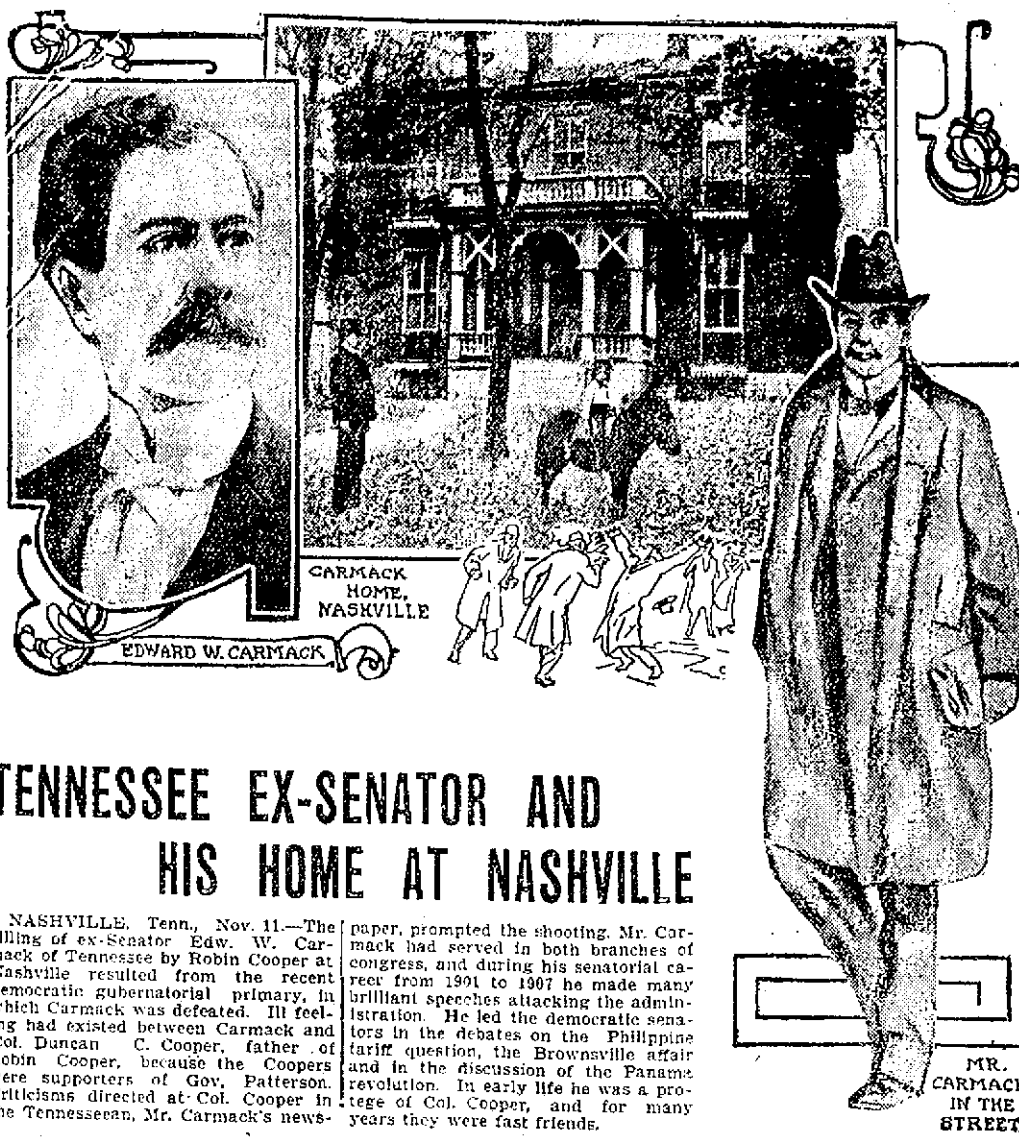

The Coopers saw fit to take the law into their own hands, and hence they should suffer the severest penalty fixed for their crime.

The south has too many applications of lynch law to branch out in a new departure by which every editor who tells the truth shall be shot down on sight.

The general public has still fresh in mind the fatal shooting of Editor Bran of the Iconoclast, the killing of another editor by one of the Tillmans and now this latest slaughter of former Senator Carmack, a man of great ability and of national renown.

This species of killing comes under the appeal to the so-called "higher law" in which men who have a real or fancied grievance take the law into their own hands and, constituting themselves as high executioners, undertake to slay the objects of their vengeance on the public streets. It is a disgrace to the American republic, for in no other country are such outrages so very frequent. The chances are that in spite of the heinousness of the crime the assailant will go free. That would add to the disgrace which the tragedy brings upon the country.

The outrage is also an attack upon the freedom of the press that should not be allowed to go unpunished. An effort will be made to show that Cooper did the shooting in self-defence, and in all probability with legal shrewdness and the intimidation of juries he will be set free. If he does then it will appear that the people of the south are unfit to be free for only those are fit for freedom who can render justice to their fellow men.

TENNESSEE EX-SENATOR AND HIS HOME AT NASHVILLE

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 11.—The killing of ex-Senator Edw. W. Carmack had served in both branches of congress, and during his senatorial career from 1891 to 1907 he made many brilliant speeches attacking the administration. He led the democratic senators in the debates on the Philippine tariff question, the Brownsville affair and in the discussion of the Panama revolution. In early life he was a protégé of Col. Cooper, and for many years they were fast friends.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

THE PERIL OF PRINT

Boston Post: The confidence of Emperor William in his own audacity must have received a serious shock to cause the withdrawal from publication of the advertised interview by William Bayard Hale.

This is not surprising in view of the consequences of his recent expansion in the London Telegraph. In the London interview he managed to put Russia and France and Holland into a ferment, to offend the amour propre of England by intimating that he furnished the plan of campaign on which Lord Roberts saved the British in the Boer war, and at home in Germany to inspire an official declaration from the conservative party urging the Kaiser to "display greater reserve in future," while that ardent radical, Maximilian Harden, calls upon him in public speeches to abdicate.

TO PROTECT BANKING SYSTEM.

Boston Transcript: The special commission on currency reform, created in connection with the Aldrich-Vreeland bill of the last session, should try to secure from congress this winter the enactment of some legislation for the further safeguarding of our national banking system. Recent events conspire to emphasize the desirability of this. The new controller of the currency is trying to saddle upon bank directors an amount of detailed work which they are wholly disinclined to take, and a measure for the improvement of bank administration, reported from this commission, might be made to stand as a virtual substitute for Comptroller Murray's so-called twenty-nine questions; perhaps it would include some of the restriction which he proposes, but at all events it should answer the public's demand that directors shall more fully direct. Coming from this commission it would represent a wider basis of experience and judgment than can the recommendations of a single treasury official.

TAFT KNEW

Concord Patriot: Look at it as you may, Taft's election is a tribute to Roosevelt's power, because Roosevelt was the power behind Taft and the people voted for Taft because they had a feeling that Taft would be guided in a large measure by Roosevelt; that he would follow in the Roosevelt footsteps.

And Taft will follow in Roosevelt's footsteps; seemingly he has faith in the Roosevelt way of doing, and he has faith in the Roosevelt policies.

A meeting of the Sacred Heart Holy Name society was held last evening in the school hall on Andrews street. While it was the regular monthly assembly of the organization the special attraction was a presentation to Mr. Owen Farrell, who voluntarily and successfully drilled the members of the society for participation in the recent parade in Boston.

The meeting was largely attended and the occasion was graced by the presence of Rev. Frs. John O'Brien, O. M. I., Robert Barrett, O. M. I., and Bernard Fletcher, O. M. I., Fr. O'Brien in formed the members that Rev. Fr. Smith, O. M. I., was unable to attend the meeting owing to his injuries. He said that the venerable pastor told him to thank the men for the creditable work and fine turnout in the Boston parade.

Pres. James Ward was in the chair. Fr. O'Brien recited the religious office of the society, which was responded to by the members. Sec'y Sheehan's report was read and accepted. Fifteen candidates for admission were voted upon. Reports were read by the chairman of several committees. It was voted that the society hold a memorial observance for the deceased members. The date selected for this ceremony was Nov. 26, Thanksgiving day.

Pres. Ward then called Mr. Farrell to the platform and in a neat address presented to him a gold watch, chain and fob.

The entertainment program included: Piano solo, Mr. Freeman; solos, Mr. Henry Curry; recitation, Mr. Eugene Flynn; songs by Martin Maguire, Thomas Green, James Ward, and Martin Gately. Mr. Tyler spoke on his recent trip to Cairo, and the Glendale quartet closed the program with the rendition of several selections.

DEATH OF JAMES RICE

Investigated by the Police Board Last Night

The board of police at its meeting last night held an investigation into the death of James Rice, who was arrested at city hall a week ago yesterday morning, and who was found dead in a cell at the police station several hours later.

Chairman Stearns of the board, at the conclusion of the meeting, stated to the press that the reason for holding the investigation was because the members wanted to know for their own information and protection the circumstances in connection with the case. He said that the man had died from heart failure and not alcoholism. The board exonerated any and all officers who had anything to do in connection with the man while under arrest.

Among those who were examined by the board were Medical Examiner J. V. Meigs, Messengers John J. Fingar, Keeper John T. Whitaker, Wagon Officer John Hickson, Patrolmen Alonzo J. Page, John Huse and Inspector Frank Goodwin.

On election day Rice was lying about on a settle outside city hall, apparently in an intoxicated condition. Several efforts were made to arouse the man, but they proved fruitless, and finally Patrolman Page, who is assigned to the patrol duties at city hall, placed Rice under arrest. While the man was in a stupor after being placed in a cell, he appeared like any ordinary drunk. A few hours later it was found that Rice had passed away.

The open session of the board was unimportant and short. A few petitioners for minor licenses appeared and their business was transacted. Among the latter was M. B. Lawrence of Boston, representative of a firm in that city selling household furnishings on the installment plan.

Lawrence had been going from house to house in this city selling his goods, and without a license from the local authorities. Some of the Lowell officers had caught the man at it and had him appear before the board. Lawrence claimed that he had a state license for a sale of goods from house to house, but Chairman Stearns impressed upon him the fact that that did not carry weight in this city. He was ordered to inform the head of his firm of the situation, and forbidden to continue his sales until the matter had been satisfactorily arranged with the local police board.

During this case Chairman Stearns took opportunity to congratulate the local force on its ability as disclosed in the capture of Lawrence, and said: "Poor old Lowell! It is now and ever will be poor; and that is due to taking in strangers."

The following routine business was transacted:

Minor licenses granted: Common carriers—Globe Ferron, 176 Tremont street; Maxine Charland, 179 Moody street; Delwin A. Murray, 55 East Merrimack street; Mary J. Fairburn, 47 Tyler street.

SPORTING GOSSIP

Racing May Be Revived in Missouri and Illinois

Horsemen in the west have come to the conclusion since election that racing will be revived in both Illinois and Missouri. They are already predicting that the Chicago, St. Louis and Kansas City tracks will be reopened next year. They say that the election of Hadley as governor of Missouri is the best thing that could happen to the racing interests. It is declared by these turfmen that while Governor-elect Hadley made no promise before election, the fact that a majority of the racing men worked and voted for him is a good reason to believe that his intentions were well understood. For that reason it is said that an attempt will be made to revive the sport at St. Louis and Kansas City. The Celas practically controlled the tracks in St. Louis when Governor Folk closed up the game, while Edward Corrigan was the chief owner of the Kansas City plant. Whether Celas and Corrigan will take part in the projected plan to race again, however, nobody seems in a position to say just now.

In Chicago it is said that Gov. Denen has never been opposed to racing, but that the man who stood in the way was State Attorney Healey. In the recent election Healey was removed and it is declared that his successor will take a more liberal view of racing and betting, in which event the gates of Harlem, Hawthorne and Worth in the Windy City will be opened once more after a number of years of idleness. Corrigan and John Condon practically controlled the turf situation in Chicago when the tracks were put out of business. They are ready to resume operations, and it is said that though they were formerly bitter enemies they are now harmonious. It is turned out that racing will be conducted at Chicago, St. Louis and Kansas City turfmen who are up in the air at present as regards the future will have another chance to go after stakes and purses. But it is hardly probable that the leading turfmen of the east would invade the west, for the reason that there has never been a pronounced feeling of enmity between the eastern turf solons on the one hand and the Celas and Corrigan on the other.

The arrival of the American racehorses owned by Messrs. Keene, Belmont and Whitney in England has caused an unusually early interest to be manifested in next year's English Derby. According to the records so far there are twenty-two American bred horses who are eligible for the derby. Of this number August Belmont has four, Lacombe, by Octagon-Lack-a-Daisy; Rhombus, by Octagon-Lady Rayon; Solicitor IV, by Hastings-Selina D. and Bay Tree, by Collier-Black Poplar. These youngsters are also eligible for the $70,000 Grand Prix de Paris, the greatest French race for three-year-olds. James R. Keene's Derby eligibles are Ullinua, Esporanto, Spectator and Vauha. John E. Madden's eligibles are Sir Martin, the champion two-year-old of the last season here, and Fayette, C. H. MacKay's eligible is a colt said to have been named California, who is by Medley-Won by Walling and who has already spent nearly a year on the other side. For the English Oaks Mr. Belmont's eligibles are Sumach I, by Hastings-Sovereign, a full sister to Half Sovereign, and a bay filly by Hastings-Tarpeia. The Keene eligibles are Maskette, Wedding Bells, Suffragette and Mystify. Madden can start Lady Bedford or Lady Hubbard, who raced here this year. English turf experts say that there will be plenty of chances for Colia, Ballot, Fair Play and Priscilla to show what they can do in handicaps against the best horses in Great Britain.

Manager Stallings took formal

grappler, who came over here six weeks ago expressly for the purpose of meeting him.

AUTOMOBILE NOTES

Reports received at the headquarters of the American Automobile association indicate that the officers of many of the local automobile clubs which have placed their organizations on record as strongly opposed to speeding and reckless driving, are not content with this action alone, but intend to place the responsibility where it rightfully belongs, upon the motorists of other states, who in many cases do not evidence any desire or inclination to observe the local speed laws. Many of the automobile clubs affiliated with the American Automobile association have during the past several months endeavored to break up the reckless driving and speeding through the principal thoroughfares and the Automobile club of Springfield (Mass.) has taken drastic action which will without doubt have a far reaching effect.

At a recent meeting of the board of directors of the Automobile club of Springfield, one of the largest and most influential clubs in New England, it was decided to have suitable cards printed which will be displayed in all of the hotels and garages in Springfield and vicinity and leading through the popular routes into the adjoining states. These cards will call upon the motorists to use the roads in a safe and sane manner and if they fail to comply with the club's request, the directors have decided that there is but one alternative, that the establishment of official club speed traps. The Springfield club is determined that the speed laws in the vicinity shall be properly observed, the local motorists feeling morally responsible for the acts of the motorists from other states and they will not hesitate to establish traps if it is deemed necessary.

The directors of the Automobile club of Springfield have taken this step upon their own initiative without waiting for specific complaints to be made and in this connection have taken more radical action than the other clubs in New England which have been considering the best means of discouraging the continuous speeding over the splendid highways of that section.

It is only a few weeks ago that Secretary Elliott of the American Automobile association sent a warning against reckless driving to the officers of the 200 automobile clubs scattered throughout the United States, to the effect that drastic anti-automobile legislation would surely be enacted in many of the eastern states, particularly Connecticut if a stop was not put to the reckless driving over the roads of New England. There has already been some agitation regarding the Connecticut Automobile statute, regarded as one of the modern motor vehicle laws in the country, being likely to be repealed, unless the automobilists touring through the state, cease speeding and thereby tend to diminish the number of accidents which have frequently occurred to the other users of the highways.

If there is anything which automobilists dislike, it is a speed trap and if the plan of the Automobile club of Springfield is carried out there is no doubt but that it will have the desired effect, at least in Springfield and vicinity of abating the fast and reckless driving of automobilists.

TARIFF REFORM

Congressman Payne at Work of Revision

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—Sessions of the ways and means committee of the house of representatives to hear arguments on the various schedules of the new tariff law began yesterday and will continue to Dec. 4. Chairman Sereno Payne of New York believes the committee will be able to perfect a bill early in the December session of congress. It is the desire of the committee, Mr. Payne says, to assure the business interests of the country that there will be no unnecessary delay in framing a new tariff law.

CAMPAIGN FUND

To be Made Public in Few Days

HOT SPRINGS, Va., Nov. 11.—President-elect Wm. H. Taft and National Chairman Frank H. Hitchcock had a long and pleasant chat yesterday over the many phases of the last campaign. It was the first opportunity for such an extended and cordial exchange of views, and at its conclusion both Mr. Taft and Mr. Hitchcock expressed their pleasure in the interview.

"We chucked each other under the chin and enjoyed many things in the campaign that were decidedly serious before," said Judge Taft last night. He added that Mr. Hitchcock had told him many interesting things that he had not known respecting the pre-election work, and Chairman Hitchcock said that he had the pleasure of informing Judge Taft that the campaign had been conducted, so far as he was concerned, without the giving of a single promise or pledge which would bind Mr. Taft as president, either in exchange for personal service in the campaign or for contributions to the republican cause.

Mr. Taft was told about the campaign fund, which Mr. Hitchcock is to make public in detail in a few days. The national chairman said that this fund was smaller in its aggregate than any similar fund since the record of such funds had been kept, and that it was collected from every state in the Union and represented a wider distribution of support than ever before. "The collections were made," Mr. Hitchcock explained, "through the state organizations. Until these organizations were perfected and until they understood their responsibility in the cause, the income was necessarily small and unassured. But when they were in working order the necessary sinews of war began to come."

Beyond these general statements Mr. Hitchcock declined to go until the authorized publication is made. He added, however, in answer to a question, that New York and the east, as always has been the case, had furnished proportionally the larger part of the fund. "The makeup of the fund was not discussed," was the statement of both participants in the conference.

"As to the details of the inauguration ceremonies," said Mr. Taft, "I should be glad to put them on the shoulders of the national chairman to the greatest extent possible."

"I think Chairman Hitchcock has proved himself a decided wonder as a guesser," laughingly remarked Judge Taft. "He said I would get 325 electoral votes. Well, 321 comes near enough to that figure to make his reputation exceedingly high."

PRES. HADLEY DISCUSSED THE MILITARY SYSTEM OF GERMANY

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—Germany's military system as a factor in the educational and technical training of her men was discussed last night by President Arthur T. Hadley of Yale university in an address before a large audience gathered under the auspices of the Brooklyn institute of arts and sciences at the Academy of Music. "The empire's military system," declared President Hadley, "originally adopted as a disorganizable necessity, has become the central factor in German education and the main cause of Germany's industrial advance."

CHINESE MINISTER

Was In Speeding Auto That Policeman Held Up

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—Wu Ting Fang, Chinese minister to the United States, witnessed an example of the automobile law in the afternoon in checking speeding automobilists last night, when a motor car in which he and a member of his staff were riding was pursued for more than thirty blocks down Broadway and overtaken when it stopped at the Manhattan hotel, where the minister was to be a guest at a banquet. The blue coat was greatly astonished to see two distinguished celebrities step from the cab of the motor car, but was more so a moment later, when Secret Service Agent Baldwin made known the identity of the Chinese minister to him.

Visions of international complications flashed before the bicycle policeman, whose name was Lemmon, but he already had declared the chauffeur under arrest for violating the speed laws, and he said there was no other course left open to him but to take the alleged offender to the night court. Wu Ting Fang and Mr. Ho, his companion in the automobile ride, walked quickly into the hotel, when they saw that the secret service man had taken charge of the case. Agent Baldwin said that the chauffeur was aware that he had been exceeding the speed limit and had been ordered to do so. According to the policeman, twenty-five miles was the average speed, although at times faster time was made. Broadway was pretty well congested with automobiles and carriages carrying theatre parties at the time, and the machine conveying the Chinese diplomat dodged in and out daintily, many times being near collision.

"I couldn't get within six blocks of them at any time," said Lemmon. When he had finished his complaint, the police decided the case would have to go to the night court and the chauffeur was taken there, accompanied by Baldwin. Magistrate Steinert fined Oliver $5 for speeding, which fine Mr. Baldwin paid, and the chauffeur was released.

The case recalled the arrest four years ago of Hugh Gurney, 3d secretary of the British embassy at Washington, who was fined $50 for violating the speed laws in an automobile at Lenox, Mass. Mr. Gurney refused to plead when arraigned in court, taking of the ground that as a representative of a foreign government he was immune from arrest. He notified Washington and the president referred the case to the state department. The judge who imposed the fine later relented it and apologized. The British government sent a check to the state department to pay the fine but the check was returned to the British embassy, with a note saying that the arrest had been unwarranted.

LAWYER F. W. QUA IN CITY COUNCIL

Talked to the Star Army on No-License Last Night

Francis W. Qua, the well known local lawyer, gave an address on "No License" before the senior branch of the Star Army of the First Presbyterian church last night. Mr. Qua, during the course of his remarks, said:

"A few weeks hence, the legal voters of this city will be called upon to face the greatest responsibility, to exercise the highest privilege, to perform the most solemn duty that falls to the lot of free men.

"It seems to me a momentous responsibility that rests upon every individual. In fact it is no less—so far as the individual is concerned—than it would be if each man who goes to the polls and votes were himself the sole voter, and upon him rested the entire responsibility of the city. I wish that I could impress upon the voters of Lowell the importance of their acts. It should be regarded almost as a religious rite.

"There are two different kinds of duty that we voters shall perform at the city election. One of those duties is to say what officers shall administer the government of the city for the next year. That is not a question of policy at all. It is a question simply of the men who are to represent us.

"Another duty, much higher than the first, is the duty of determining the policy of this city, and its government for the next year, upon one of the most vital questions, the question of intoxicating liquors. In other words, the voter is actually a legislator, when it comes to this question. He makes the law.

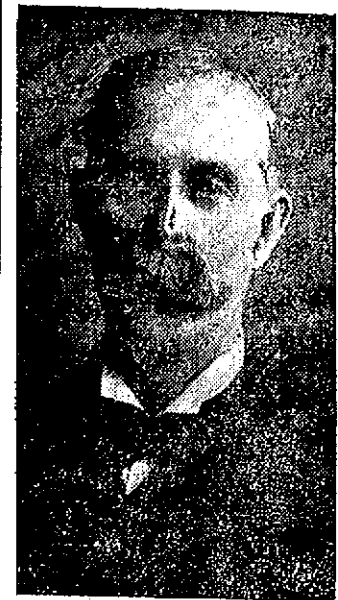

"It is the general policy of the commonwealth, and has been for many years, to prohibit the sale of intoxicating liquors. If every voter in the city neglected to answer the question on the ballot, the general law would prevail and there would be no licenses issued in Lowell for the coming year. This burden of proof, then, is upon those persons who say that we ought to vote yes. If we are in doubt, and do nothing prohibition will prevail.

"Those who ask us to vote for license should give us some good and sufficient reason for so doing.

"It is usual for people talking on this subject to assume that the burden of proof is upon those who are asking for no-license. It is just the other way. Mr. Qua then presented Miss Willard's temperance arguments, with comments on each; the scientific argument, the social argument, the economic and the political argument.

FRANCIS W. QUA

Did the juries do their duty in those cases? The law says that the keeper of a hotel may sell liquor on Sunday to bona fide guests, who resort to his house for food or lodging.

"In the first place, we have a great many more hotels than the city would

Alderman Bailey Explained His Position on Health Matter

Said Mayor Has Broken His Promises — Dr. Jones' Name Sent Down — The Business Transacted

Mayor Farnham changed his mind about sending to the board of aldermen the name of Dr. W. M. Jones for confirmation to the board of health. Yesterday he had decided not to send the doctor's name to the aldermen last night but at the last moment he decided to push it along. The appointment was not acted upon, however, an objection to the suspension of rule 13 being submitted by Alderman O'Leary.

Alderman Bailey had the floor at last night's meeting and he wallowed Mayor Farnham in great shape. He said the mayor was not a man of his word and that his (Bailey's) position in the board of health matter was the mayor's fault because the chief executive did not live up to his agreements.

Alderman Bailey charged that Mayor Farnham, soon after his election, promised to appoint Dr. Frank O'Sullivan to the board of health. Alderman Bailey's statement to the board last night was as follows:

"With your permission I would like to say a few words on a question of personal privilege. It is with reference to the position I have taken regarding a member for the board of health and support if it were not for the rum traffic, and it were not for Sunday sales, many of them would go out of business.

"Could any 12 men sit and listen to that evidence, and honestly think that that was a compliance with the law?" Preceding the address, the army had a business session, the president, John Caddell, presiding. During the evening Carl Wilkins played piano solos, and Messrs. Muir and Campbell sang a duet.

for which I consider I have been unfairly criticized by one of our local newspapers.

"Soon after the election of Mayor Farnham, His Honor offered to relatives of Dr. Frank O'Sullivan the appointment. For him it was a case of the office seeking the man, and not the man seeking the office. I was asked at the time if I would vote for him, and I promised to do so. Up to the present time the mayor, for some reason of his own, has failed to keep his word, although through the summer, yes, and as late as this fall he has repeated it.

"This is my explanation for not making this statement before, as I was expecting at every meeting that Dr. Frank O'Sullivan's name would be sent up.

"I agree with His Honor that the position should be filled by a physician, and I consider Dr. O'Sullivan fully qualified to do it. He comes of a good family, and I say right here, if we had more tradesmen of the calibre of his father we should have a greater Lowell.

"With reference to insinuations that I had made a deal with Mr. Beane, I repeat my former statement that he was an entire stranger to me this spring. Since then I have met him and found him a gentleman, and today I am pleased to consider him among my personal friends.

"While I am conscious of mistakes, there are mistakes which reflect on my judgment and not upon my honor. No man can charge me at any time or place with having a dishonest dollar in my possession."

When Alderman Bailey had finished Chairman Read said if there were no objections rule 13 would be suspended to allow action on the appointment of Dr. Jones.

"There is objection," said Alderman O'Leary, and the appointment was relegated to the table for three days.

The following jurors were drawn by Alderman Brennan:

Alfred T. Howe, 4 Eighth avenue, crayon manufacturer.

Samuel E. Snow, 39 School street, mason.

Louis Alexander, 261 Gibson street, tailor.

John F. McLaughlin, 151 West Sixth street, piper.

Peter J. Conalen, 43 Marlboro street, plumber.

The returns of the state elections were canvassed and signed.

Edward McGovern was confirmed as constable.

$2500 For Police

The board adopted the recommendation of the appropriations committee that $2500 be appropriated for police salaries and sundries.

The sum of $6200 was voted for a horse wagon and truck for the new Centralville fire station and a horse wagon for the High street engine house.

An order transferring $10,000 from streets to the general treasury fund, then to sewers was adopted. Adjourned.

Common Council

The common council in regular session last night voted to appropriate the sum of $115,000 to tide over the school, health and charity departments for the remainder of the year. This vote was in concurrence with the board of aldermen.

The council balloted once for city physician and there was no choice. The mayor's appointment of George McLaughlin as a surveyor of lumber was confirmed.

The joint order to appropriate $1000 for a baseball and playground at Fort Hill park was adopted.

The question of the $11,000, $20,000 for schools, $11,000 for the charity department, and $10,000 for the health department, was taken up and the joint order was adopted.

An order to appropriate $500 for shower baths in the new fire house was read. Councilman Qua thought the matter should have gone to a committee before going to the council, and he moved that it be referred to the committee on lands and buildings. The
